Further Great Cures of Skin Diseases by the Cuticura Remedies.

Boy one year and a half old—Face and body in a terrible condition, being covered with sores—Sulphur Springs Fail—Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

I have used your CUTICURA REMEDIES in two cases where it proved to be successful. The first was in the case of a boy a year and a half old. His face and body were in a terrible condition, the former being completely covered with sores. I took him to the Massena sulphur springs, but he did not improve any. I was then advised to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which I did. He took one and one half bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, when his skin was as smooth as could be, and is to-day. I used the CUTICURA on his sores and the CUTICURA SOAP in washing him. He is now five years of age, and all right. The other case was a disease of the scalp, which was cured by washing with the CUTICURA SOAP and rubbing in the CUTICURA, one bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT being used. They have proved successful in every case where I have advised the use of them. It is surprising how rapidly a child will improve under their treatment. I recommend them for any disease of the skin as being the best in the world. This is my experience, and I am ready to stand by my statement. JOHN R. HERO,

I call myself cured, in gratitude for which I make this public statement.

Guthrie Does Not Appear To Be Much of a Health Resort.

THE SOCIETY AND WATER ARE BAD

The People Freeze at Night and Are Scorched by Burning Winds During the Day—The Cherokee Strip Will Be Gobbled

KANSAS CITY, April 23.—A Star Guthrie special says: The first homestead filed at Guthrie was by Mrs. Colin of Fort Smith, Ark. The first soldier to file a declaration statement was Benton Turner, a private in the Sixth Illinois cavalry. During yesterday three townsites, Guthrie, Oklahoma City and Edmunds, three homesteads and twenty-one soldiers' declaratory statements were filed. At 11:15 William Johnson, heading a little procession at the land office, laid down a rough chart of Guthrie and filed it as a townsite. This was the first paper presented. Four clerks for the land offices from Washington arrived yesterday, two for Kingfisher and two for here. The Kingfisher land office will not be open until next Thursday.

At 5 o'clock yesterday evening a pistol report across Cottonwood creek, west of the depot and outside of the townsite reserve, attracted attention. In a moment a man on horseback went west over the hill at breakneck speed. Two deputies went over but were told that nothing had occurred. A Star reporter got a boat and crossed the stream, however, to investigate. In the bushes were collected half a dozen men. On the ground and beside a half made grave was stretched all that was left of S. T. Compis. A ball from a revolver had passed entirely through his breast. The shooting was done by a man who claimed to have the first stake on the claim which Compis and his partner had settled on. The murderer jumped on a horse and escaped. Believing secrecy to be the easiest way out, Compis's partner dragged the dying man into the bushes and said that no one had been hurt. He would not give his name, and the peculiarity of the situation prevented a searching inquiry. The dead man was about 30 years old and had black hair and eyes. Compis and his companions took possession of the murderer's outfit of a wagon and two horses. The body was buried in the bushes. This was the only murder near Guthrie up to midnight, despite all other reports.

During all the night there was much suffering for water. The railroad company refused to let the settlers take water from the railroad tanks for fear of exhaustion, and the water in the Cottonwood was red with mud. A water famine seems imminent. Hawkers went about in the depot last night with buckets, charging 5 cents a glass. Engineers were besieged by thirsty people for a drink from the engine tanks, and many were accommodated. Up to midnight not a quarrel on the Guthrie town site had occurred.

There is great indignation at the fact that large numbers, including many prominent people, got in before noon yesterday and made selections. There is also much indignation on account of the hundred or more deputy marshals who used their authority as officers to get on the ground and resigned at noon. They all have a lot. They are to be singled out and a complaint will be lodged against them. A resolution has been adopted to the effect that every invader should be complained of and all efforts at once made to drive them out. The feeling is very strong in this matter.

There were wild estimates of the number of people at Guthrie telegraphed last night. A liberal estimate is 6000.

There were some queer scenes yesterday. A number of men would get together and agree that a street should be run in certain directions and lots would be staked to face it. The man adjoining it would then declare that those fellows staked directly on the street. Thus no man knows for a certainty where he has his lot. Nevertheless many sites were sold, one man paying $160 for a supposed business site. The trouble expected over this point will probably not occur. Everyone is good natured and hanging on to his claim.

The great prairie was foraged east of the city last night, and with camp fires made a beautiful sight. A squad of General Merritt's soldiers guarded the land office all night.

INTENSE SUFFERING AT GUTHRIE

The People Are Freezing at Night and Burning During the Day

CHICAGO, April 23.—The Daily News' special from Guthrie, Oklahoma, via Arkansas City, says: Guthrie is plunged in seemingly inextricable confusion. The differences of the rival factions with reference to the control of the town have baffled the efforts of half a dozen public meetings to settle them. Excitement is at a very high pitch and confidence is beginning to waver. The sufferings of 15,000 unsheltered and unprovisioned people is something that could be endured only amid such a furore.

The scenes of the night and day are unexampled. A thousand fled the town and the country, and a thousand more poured in. There is a feeling of wild uncertainty and apprehension that amounts to distraction. There is no food, no water, no cover for the bitter cold of the night and the withering heat of the day. The railroad is gorged with business and is temporarily inoperative.

The townsite is changed every hour by rival parties as each secures temporary power. Not a building has been started, and but a few more tents have been reared. Nobody knows where the streets are, and every one is just now yielding all things else in the clamor for food, drink and shelter or the means of sustaining life.

To complete this tremendous excitement a wreck occurred just south of the town during the forenoon. A freight and passenger train met, and both engines went into the ditch. No one was hurt, but the track was blockaded for hours.

THE SUFFERING INTENSE.

The sight at Guthrie upon which the sun rose this morning was probably never before witnessed in the history of the world. A majority of the 15,000 people lay with their blankets upon the ground, either guarding their claims or slumbering where they had fallen of fatigue. From the depot platform they lay as close as corded wood, and the few tents were crowded with huddled masses. As many as could took the meager shelter afforded, but they quickly came to the limit of their capacity, beyond which neither tears nor bribes could prevail. Among the thousands stretched upon the ground, many of them were of respectable quality.

Those who could not sleep, and they were legion in the stinging cold, crouched in groups, swearing or weeping as suited their spirit.

The sun fairly leaps out of the prairie, and within two hours the cold had been supplanted with sahara heat. The wind rose, but without a cooling effect, and blew a hot sirroco that scorched the flesh and filled the air with blinding alkali dust. To complete the general misfortunes, the only large tent, which was accommodating 1000 people, fell under the stress of the furnace blast. It could not be repaired, and the other tents could scarcely be mounted.

The climate provoked an unsatiable thirst, and water was the first supply to fail. There is quite a stream nearby, but the water is too alkaline to drink. The railroad tank that takes its supply by a gravity pipe from a distant and elevated spring afforded the only possible drinkable water, and it is brackish. It was attacked by thousands of people until the railway officials called for military protection, under the pretense that they needed the water to operate the road. The tank men, however, sold water at 5 cents a pint thereafter, as did the locomotive engineers from the tanks of their engines.

A young man named Compis, who had failed to secure a lot in Guthrie, filed on a homestead claim about two miles from town this afternoon. He was accompanied by a friend, name unknown. The two had scarcely driven stakes when a man, armed with a Winchester rifle, issued from the brush and ordered them off. Compis showed fight, whereupon the man shot him through the breast. The wounded man was dragged into the timber by his friend, and there died in half an hour.

When the news reached Guthrie a posse of thirty men organized and overtook the murderer about twelve miles north. He refused to surrender and was killed by a volley. Reference to the entry books show that his name was probably C. Y. Land.

THE TRAIN LOADED.

Only one train left over the crippled road, and it was crowded beyond additional space for a mouse on the floor or a sparrow on the roof. Those who could not get on cheered defiantly as the train pulled out, and another just as crowded pulled in from the North.

A Daily News correspondent secured a footing on the pilot of the locomotive to reach Arkansas City, nearly eighty miles north, with this dispatch. Along the route, during the long hours of the laggard ride, scores of boomers' wagons could be seen forging northward across the Cherokee strip, retracing the hard journey they had just completed. Hundreds, and probably thousands of them, will halt on the strip and try to force a settlement. They are strapped and desperate, and the government must yield this fine region, now uselessly sequestered, or cause great trouble.

Good humor is often splendidly maintained in the face of these hardships. One boomer hailed from the train as to whether he was northward bound, shouted: "I am going back to my wife's people." Everybody of whom inquiries were made on the train declared that he was disappointed in the country, and would not put up with the suffering for the scant chance of gain.

FILLING UP WITH TOUGHS.

Guthrie is filling up with gamblers and thieves, and the shrewdest and most unscrupulous scheming is practiced.

The report last night that three men had been killed settled down to-day to one man killed, and the name and location were given. The Daily News representative rode over the scene, about three miles west of Guthrie, and found the facts to be that two men had divided an equally disputed claim and were sleeping in the same tent. Pistols were drawn twice last night and to-day in town, but in each case one party retired before forcing trouble.

Some substantial news of fatalities in other parts of the territory were brought in by Deputy Marshal Varnum. Fourteen miles west of Oklahoma City a man named Martin was found by the patrol this morning industriously building a sod house. A few yards distant a man lay shot through the body and dead. Martin said he had left his family on the southern border and had run his horse to a claim he had in mind. He had found it occupied by a boomer who had lain for days in the bushes, and in a quarrel had killed him. The dead man could not be identified. The patrol and Martin buried him, without box or shroud, in a shallow grave on the plains. General Merritt has ordered Martin's arrest.

The railroad seems to be completely prostrated and does not deliver the baggage of the suffering throng. Pneumonia and sunstroke are beginning to claim their victims, but the sick have neither refuge nor sympathy.

The whole scene in its countless varied and painful details is simply indescribable. Here stands a big city out of doors and without supplies.

THE CHEROKEE STRIP

Steps for Its Occupation Taken by Disappointed Boomers.

ARKANSAS CITY, April 23.—A meeting of Oklahoma boomers who were disappointed in securing claims in the territory was held in the opera house at Arkansas City this evening. There was a very large and enthusiastic attendance. Speeches were made denouncing the way in which Oklahoma was settled.

It was freely declared that large bodies of men passing as United States marshals in order to get into the country had selected the best claims, and that that was unfair to the law abiding settlers. They came to secure homes, and as they could not get them in Oklahoma, they were going to have them in the Cherokee strip.

About 600 men in Arkansas City to-night pledged themselves to go to-morrow to the Cherokee strip and stake claims and let the consequences be what they may. The beauty and fertility of this strip, so useless to the Indians, and of profit only to a lot of cattle kings, have been remarked upon before by the Daily News correspondent. There seems nothing unreasonable in opening it at once, and to do so will avert the great trouble that now seems inevitable. There is a pressure of surplus people driven back here from Oklahoma, and awaiting in the territory the first chance to get out, that must be relieved. The baffled settlers here are earnest and undismayed. They will execute their purpose.

The troops in this region, fortunately, are in command of Captain Jack Hayes, an old frontiersman, a cool and discreet officer. There is nevertheless going to be great turmoil in the Cherokee strip unless the government at Washington at once intervenes.

ALL THE GOOD LAND IS TAKEN

The Country Is Settled, and With Less Strife Than Was Anticipated.

ST. LOUIS, April 23.—The Republic's Purcell, Ind. T., special says: Advices from every part of the territory of Oklahoma indicate that every available quarter section of land is already taken along the line of the Atchison railroad and on the stage trails which run from Guthrie to Kingfisher and from Oklahoma to Fort Reno. The occupants of the soil have taken possession of their claims by pitching tents, and in many cases erecting rude log cabins or frame structures.

The Kingfisher landoffice was opened to-day, and the entries are reported to have been more numerous than they were at Guthrie. The country is beginning to wear a settled look, and, although the appearance of things is rude, it is an evident fact that the difficulty is practically over, and that out of the rush and strife and bitterness of years the country has been settled with less sacrifice than has always been feared and predicted.

There is a bad crowd in Guthrie now which was in Purcell before the territory was opened, and went up to Guthrie for the purpose of running dance houses and gambling dens and making what they could out of the boom. They did not succeed in getting lots in the part of the city necessary for the success of their business, and to-day they began trying to drive others off their holdings. They were not successful in the selection of their first victim. They made claim to a lot owned by 'Wash' Rogers, who is deputy United States internal revenue collector for the Oklahoma district, and who is a bad man to impose upon. Rogers resisted the claim, and the dance house men then proposed that they should occupy all of that part of the lot not covered by Rogers' tent. Rogers refused this, and they attempted to take forcible possession. Rogers pulled out a Winchester and compelled the evacuation of the premises. The dance-hall men threaten to renew the trouble.

Guthrie is in great need of the perfection of her municipal government. There is now collected together a population of 15,000 or 16,000 souls, and among them are a large percentage of the criminal and vicious classes. The long platform at the depot is packed with humanity. At the arrival of every train the crowd surges over the tracks and fills the space on the opposite side of the coaches. It includes some of the most notorious crooks in the country, mainly confidence men, bunco men and pickpockets. Two detectives have been employed, but all they can do is to warn parties that they are spotted, and give them three hours to leave the city. No arrests have been made. The crooks who choose to remain can do so at their own risk.

Guthrie is in the midst of one of the wildest booms ever seen in the West. Her hotels are crowded, but still run busses to the depot. Her postoffice is demanding more clerical help. Her banks are doing a heavy business. Lumber is commanding enormous prices, $300 a thousand, but there are other rival towns along the line of the Atchison road, which claim that the Guthrie boom will soon collapse, and they are aspiring for the title of capital of the future territorial government.

Oklahoma City has a population of two thousand or three thousand, and is now the military headquarters of the territory. President Richardson of Oklahoma paid $500 for a lot there. The Chicago colony has located itself at Harrison, the new town near the old station of Edmund, and have issued a large and glowing plat of their future metropolis, giving it ninety-six blocks and an entire section of ground to spread itself over, and making it the junction of the Atchison and Frisco lines of railroad after the Frisco line is extended west from its present terminus at Sapula.

The ride to-night from Guthrie to Purcell revealed a strong and beautiful picture. All over the level lands approaching the Canadian river bottoms the lights of camp-fires burning in the open air, or the lights of lamps glimmering through canvas tents, gave the entire country a weird but pleasing look. There was no timber line to obstruct the view for the most of the distance, and the lights of locating quarter section claimants were far apart. It was a fine spectacular piece. The presence of the pale face has given greater significance to the meaning of the Indian word Oklahoma as designating the beautiful land. Now and then a myriad of lights marked the site of some ambitious town of yesterday's birth. At all of them there was but one answer to the question on everybody's lips; it was one of peace. Oklahoma has been settled.

ON THE CALDWELL TRAIL.

The Rush Attended With a Number of Fatalities.

WICHITA, April 23.—A special to the Daily Eagle from Pond Creek says Stockmen Ragan and Cochran have arrived at Pond Creek, bringing the first news from the camp under Captain Woodson at the Caldwell trail. At 10 o'clock yesterday morning two thousand wagons and several hundred horsemen were drawn up in line two miles this side of the Oklahoma line. At that hour Captain Woodson gave the command to advance, and at 11:30 all had arrived at the Oklahoma line ready for the great free-for-all race over the prairies.

Captain Woodson addressed the boomers, and in the name of the United States thanked them for their good behavior. At precisely 12 o'clock and 3 minutes the bugle sounded, and the boomers commenced their march across the prairie. A few yards from the starting point a boomer's horse stumbled and fell upon him, breaking the man's neck, and a man in a buggy, wishing to inspire new energy into his fagged horses, fired a shotgun and accidentally killed a neighboring boomer.

N. P. Reese, a photographer, who also returned this morning from the Caldwell trail camp, says that Sunday the boomers held church, and during the sermon two men got into an altercation regarding a horse, and one of them was fatally stabbed.

The first stage coach from Kingfisher was expected in Pond creek at 10 P. M., with the first tidings from the Kingfisher district.

Captain White Explains His Disappearance, and Tells Where the $10,000 Went—Notes From the Inland Empire

SEATTLE, W. T., April 23.—A scene that almost rivals the frantic rush of the boomers to Oklahoma was enacted at the land office here this morning and last night. The government authorities had advertised two townships of valuable timber land near Seattle to be thrown open for settlement, and last night when the land office closed a number of men congregated at the land office and formed a line, with the avowed purpose of staying all night, that they might be first to make filings this morning.

The crowd was very disorderly, and the police finally dispersed it, but before daylight this morning the claimants began to congregate again, and when the land office opened at 9 o'clock an excited crowd of 200 claimants and as many more witnesses had gathered.

Police were on hand and had great difficulty in preserving order.

The first to file was a young woman, who had coolly brought a chair, elbowed her way through the mob, taken a seat near to the door, and there calmly awaited the opening of the land office.

In all over a hundred timber claim filings alone were made, and many pre-emptions and homesteads. It cannot be told in the confusion how many claims have been doubled and trebled, but doubtless a large number. The settlers are now leaving for the land, and trouble in contests over settlements is expected.

INCREDIBLE DEPRAVITY.

A Seattle Fisherman Nearly Kills a Five-Year-Old Girl, and Is Threatened With Lynching.

SEATTLE, W. T., April 23.—Charles Mint, an Italian fisherman, was arrested this evening for an attempt to rape Mabel Gifford, the 5-year-old daughter of a laundryman of this city. He had enticed the little girl to his cabin on the shore of the harbor, above the town, a number of times during the past two weeks and attempted his designs on her. He frightened her into silence by threats of killing, but yesterday she was taken seriously ill from the effects of his abuse, and she related the story to her parents.

At 6 o'clock Mint was captured by friends of the family at the foot of Commercial street as he was preparing to pull away in a boat from the wharf for a night's fishing.

The indignant father jumped on him and gave him a terrible beating, and the mother ran out with a revolver in her hand to shoot him, but was restrained. A mob soon gathered, and it was with great difficulty that the wretch was landed in jail. He will be given a preliminary hearing to-morrow.

The little girl is in a critical condition, and there is talk of lynching if she dies.

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT.

The Veterans of Washington and Alaska Meet at Spokane Falls.

SPOKANE FALLS, W. T., April 23.—The city is gaily decorated to-night with flags, bunting, banners, mottoes and evergreens as a manifestation of welcome to the members of the G. A. R. of Washington and Alaska, who assemble to-morrow in seventh annual encampment. Every train brings large numbers of visitors, and the hotels are overflowing, while all the available furnished rooms in public houses and many in private houses have been secured. This promises to be the largest encampment ever held in Washington.

CANDIDATES FOR THE SENATE.

Walter J. Thompson, of Tacoma, and Ex-Governor Squire, of Seattle, in the Field.

ELLENSBURGH, W. T., April 22.—Samuel Collyer, cashier of the Merchants' National bank of Tacoma, of which institution Walter J. Thompson is president, being in the city, and your correspondent hearing that Mr. Thompson's name was mentioned as a probable candidate for the United States senate, interviewed him on the subject.

"Sustaining as I do," said he, "intimate relations with Mr. Thompson, I have reason to believe that at the proper time he will be a candidate for the United States senate. It seems generally conceded that senators will be selected one from each side of the mountains, and it would appear at this time that the most prominent names mentioned on the western side of the range are Watson C. Squire of Seattle and Walter J. Thompson of Tacoma.

He Spent the $10,000 for Opium and Had to Throw the Drug Overboard.

TACOMA, W. T., April 23.—In conversation with an intimate friend of Captain White, late commander of the steamer Premier, who absconded from Seattle some months ago, it was learned that his own statement of the trouble was that he used the $10,000, which was the extent of his shortage, in purchasing opium to be smuggled into the country. He had the whole of the opium on board the steamer on his last trip to Seattle, and when he reached Port Townsend received a warning that the vessel would be seized on its arrival at Seattle, as the customs authorities had been informed of the presence of opium on the boat. He therefore, according to his own statement to his friend, set to work and threw the whole consignment of opium overboard through a porthole, and when the vessel arrived at Seattle the customs officers were unable to find any opium on board, and no seizure could be made.

Finding that the money was all lost, he telegraphed his brother to furnish him with funds to make good his shortage, and that not arriving in time he left for St. Paul, where he had but $35 on his arrival.

He then started around the world, and only arrived at Port Townsend a few days ago. He has shipped as first officer of the steamer Libby, under Captain Beecher, and has stated that he will work in every way so as to fix up his shortage as quickly as possible.

FROM WALLA WALLA.

Reduction in the Price of Coal—Arrest of Two Runaway Boys.

WALLA WALLA, W. T., April 23.—A few days ago a man and wife named Madden came from Sprague, stopping at the City hotel here. On pretence of having left a satchel at Pasco the man left, and has not been heard from since. It is supposed he has abandoned the woman.

Coal, which heretofore has sold at $1[illegible], has now, through the influence of Hunt, been reduced so that Roslyn coal will hereafter be delivered here at $7 for carload lots. This gives very great satisfaction. The fuel question has always been a serious one.

Two 14-year-old boys who ran away from their parents at Beaverton, Or., were arrested here last night and held for further orders.

The O. & W. T. engineers on the Grand Ronde write that they are now at Weston, Or., working this way. The route is all that can be desired.

The papers here report that Dr. H. G. Mauzy and family, who recently moved to Tacoma, have determined to return to this city, and have purchased the Ayers cottage to live in.

Hon. H. M. Chase, of this city, has been appointed to represent the territory at the centennial celebration at New York.

Vegetable shipments the past three days amounted to nearly five tons.

Walt Thomas has 1800 acres of wheat that will average thirty-five bushels. Charles Maur has 1000 that will average forty bushels per acre. These are samples of what may be expected at the coming harvest. Never were prospects so fair.

BACK FROM THE ARCTIC

Lord Lonsdale Arrives in San Francisco From Kodiak.

HE TALKS OF HIS ADVENTURES

The Maps of Alaska Are All Wrong and That of the Yukon, Prepared by Lieutenant Schwatka, is Particularly Worthless

SAN FRANCISCO, April [illegible].—Lord Lonsdale arrived here [illegible] from Kodiak, Alaska.

He gives the following account of his travels: [illegible] equipped for a journey through the [illegible] jacent [illegible] Arctic [illegible] directly to Winnipeg, Manitoba, where nearly all of his outfit was [illegible] and started northward with sleds drawn by dogs, his only white companion being William McKay, a cook in the employ of the Hudson Bay Company.

In August, 1888, he reached Melville island, the farthest point north reached by him. Thence he started across Alaska for Kodiak, his course being from Melville island to the nearest point on the Yukon river, [illegible] which he followed it nearly all of the way.

He had with him sixty-nine dogs and eighteen Indians, but during the journey all but twenty-eight of the dogs died and several of the Indians were nearly frozen to death.

Lonsdale was obliged to walk over 1500 miles of the journey across Alaska, owing to the depth of the snow, which made it impossible for the dogs to drag little more than the sleds with the provisions on them.

November 10, 1888, he reached the Russian mission on the Yukon river. From there he went across to the Nushagak river, thence to Bristol bay, arriving at Katmai January 12, 1889. Owing to the thickness of the ice the boat did not arrive from Kodiak until March 14. He left Kodiak about a month ago for this port.

Lord Lonsdale says his object was not to find the north pole, as has been published, but to explore the islands in the Arctic ocean and study the birds and animals found there. He will stay a few weeks in this city and then go to New York by way of Winnipeg. He brought with him a number of rich specimens, which he secured on his journey.

Speaking further about his expedition, Lord Lonsdale said: "I found all the maps wrong, very wrong, more especially those of Alaska. Lieutenant Schwatka's map is as incorrect as any of them. His map of the Yukon, which is supposed to be a military one, is a most ridiculous affair. For military purposes it would not be a particle of use. There are passes and ravines without number and not one of them down on his map.

"The Indians have from one to three hundred stands of arms, and from two to three thousand rounds of ammunition.

"While on Hay river I saw the most beautiful waterfall in the world. It is horseshoe shape and has a sheer fall of two hundred feet and a step with an [illegible] It is about one mile and a half wide at the top and one and three-quarter miles wide at the bottom. It is far more beautiful than Niagara, although there is not the same weight of water. Who can picture it, a great block after block of ice and iceberg after iceberg, come whirling over and down into the abyss below."

STREET CAR CASUALTIES

A Woman Killed and Two Persons Seriously Injured in San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—There was a series of street car accidents this morning and one of the victims was killed outright. Two others were badly bruised and maimed and it is not improbable that one of them will be crippled for life.

The accident which resulted in the death of Mrs. Bridget Needham, an elderly lady, was according to the stories told by witnesses entirely due to her own carelessness. She boarded a car on the Market street cable system, and took a seat on the side of the dummy. Running along parallel with it was a horse car. When the cable car was opposite Powell street the unfortunate woman, without waiting for the car to stop, sprung from her seat. The horse car was at the time but a few feet distant and the poor woman had scarcely reached the ground when the horses struck her and knocked her down. The driver at once applied the brake, but the horses were traveling along at a lively jog and he was unable to stop the car in time to prevent the accident. The next instant one of the front wheels passed over the woman's neck, almost severed the head from her body. Spectators who were on the sidewalk at once ran to the woman's assistance, but before they reached her life was extinct. The body was taken from beneath the car and carried to the sidewalk, where it lay until the coroner's deputies arrived and took it to the morgue.

All of the arteries and veins in the neck were severed, and the blood flowed out over the sidewalk and along the gutter. A crowd of a thousand people gathered around the spot in a few minutes.

A policeman took the driver of the horse car into custody and booked him on the charge of manslaughter. The driver was terribly affected, and although the accident was not due to any carelessness on his part, he could not keep back the tears.

The body presented a sickening sight. The eyes were wide open and the mouth was opened as if the woman was about to cry out when the wheels of the car struck her and crushed out her life. The horrible gaping wound in the throat showed that her head was only held to the body by a few muscles and shreds of flesh in the back of the neck.

OTHER ACCIDENTS.

A Chinaman had an encounter with a Clay street dummy this morning. The dummy was coming down the grade and it struck him with sufficient force to throw him off the track. He landed on his back in the center of the street, and was picked up in rather a limp condition, but escaped with a few severe bruises.

A fifteen year old boy named Brown was another victim of the gripman. He was knocked down by a car of the Market street cable line as he was crossing the street and his right foot was badly crushed.

A SUCCESSFUL MANEUVER

How the Southern Pacific Messenger Boys Won C. P. Huntington

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—The minor officials of the Southern Pacific Company relate an incident that happened at the headquarters of the road here a few days since.

Since C. P. Huntington's arrival from the East he has been going over the salary list of the company's employes carefully. He has discharged a number of men whom he thought superfluous, and cut down the salaries of the others. Employed in the main building are twelve or thirteen small messenger boys, who grew fearful that their wages would be lowered. They therefore held a formal meeting and drew up the following petition:

"Mister Huntington and Mister Stanford: Us messenger boys that you employ to show people into your office and to run on errands in the [illegible] don't want you to cut down our wages. Some of of us [illegible] and Colonel Crocker and Mr. Stanford are cutting salaries down. Most of us [illegible] $1 [illegible] Please don't make many [illegible]"

The story goes that the boys [illegible] the petition [illegible] by drawing lots, and the [illegible] "Jack," [illegible] Agent Goodman's messenger boy. He intended to hand it to Senator Stanford, but on opening the door found Huntington in the room.

At the noon hour the messengers crowded around Jack and anxiously asked: "What did he say?"

"Well, you see, boys," he replied, "when I opened the door and saw Mr. Huntington, and Mr. Stanford wasn't there, I didn't like to go in, but Mr. Huntington [illegible] [illegible]

"Well, what did he say, Jack?" quickly asked the boys.

A BLESSING IN DISGUISE.

Cheney Will Spring Like the Phoenix From the Ashes of Her Big Fire

CHENEY, April 23.—The conflagration which visited Cheney a few days since, leaving the entire business portion of it in ashes, has after all proved only a blessing in disguise. It is the universal expression of the people here that it was the very best thing that could have happened to the town. Instead of being dejected over their severe loss all the property owners whose buildings were destroyed by the fire are going to work with a will, and the result will be that instead of a town of frame structures Cheney will soon be a prosperous and attractive center of population with nearly every business house of brick. A practical brick man is now on the ground here and before the middle of May he will have half a million brick burned and ready for use. Eight of the principal blocks of the city have been [illegible] fire limits by the city council and this same body has also determined to at once widen the main street twelve and possibly twenty four feet.

The most remarkable energy is being shown here. Property in the burnt district has advanced at least 25 per cent since the fire and everybody is going to work with a will to make something of Cheney. Among the many new buildings contemplated is a fine brick block to be built at once by Percival & Andrus on the corner formerly occupied by the Bank of Cheney. This firm is also negotiating with the owner of the fire proof building adjoining to add another story to his present structure and combine the upper story with that of the new brick building, making a capacious opera house. J. S. Matthis has a large force of men at work clearing away the debris of the old Russ house and preparing a site for a $25,000 brick hotel. The Masons have formed a stock company and will commence work at once on a $15,000 two-story brick, the lower part of which has already been leased for a large grocery store. Paul Bocion, who lost his fine brick by the fire, is now rebuilding. In addition to rebuilding his old building he will erect another one story brick 20x75 feet at the rear of the main building, to be occupied by the Cheney Sentinel. Rich Bros., W. D. Switzer, Fred Switzer, E. A. Wahlin, A. Brown, F. Wilce, Dr. Turner, Prof. Eastman, J. S. Mount and a few others have plans out for substantial brick buildings and will erect them as soon as the material can be brought here. Within a mile of the town are great granite quarries and a large force of men is now employed opening them and getting out the stone for foundations and rear walls. The new buildings will all be of brick and stone and will be built in the most substantial manner.

THE ARMES COURT MARTIAL

Defendant Tells His Story of the Childish Affair

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Captain Armes took the witness stand to-day, before the Armes court-martial board, and testified in his own behalf. He said General Barnum had invited him to become a member of his staff, but he had declined, as he expected to serve on Governor Beaver's staff. He made application in writing for a place on Governor Beaver's staff, and on the 15th of February received an appointment, which he accepted. A few days later several gentlemen were, on his recommendation, appointed on the governor's staff.

On the 28th of February General Hastings told witness that his appointment was a mistake, and when witness asked why his name had been taken from the list, General Hastings said he did not want to talk about it.

Captain Armes said he then sent a letter demanding a written explanation. General Hastings in reply, wrote that witness had not been appointed on the staff. He called at inauguration headquarters next day and after some words, General Hastings lost his temper and ordered witness out of the office, but afterwards apologized.

Subsequently witness was tendered a commission as special aide, which brought him nearer the president. While riding alongside the vice president's carriage, Mr. Morton and Senator Cullom bowed to him and he returned the salute. Captain Gibson and Captain Bourke dashed up at this instant and in a boisterous and drunken condition ordered witness out of the parade, and called on the police to aid in ejecting him. Next day he swore out a warrant against Captain Bourke and sent it to Lieutenant Guy. Three days after, his brother told him the case had been nolle prossed the day before, on account of a lack of witnesses. He then went to the adjutant general and after being informed that Captain Bourke had preferred charges against him, witness said he would send a letter preferring charges against Captain Bourke and Colonel Gibson.

Speaking of the assault on Governor Beaver in the Riggs house, Armes testified that he urged Governor Beaver to apologize, to which the governor replied that he (Armes) must bear in mind that he was here as a private citizen, not as governor of Pennsylvania. They were on the same platform, but he did not propose to do anything about that matter.

As he turned to go away Armes reached up his hand to stop him. The governor considered it an insult and some words followed.

Witness asked the court to notice that he had not reflected on Governor Beaver in the letters he had written. He added: "But I did not hesitate to reflect on General Hastings. I said he was not a gentleman. I should have added that he was a liar and a coward."

In the course of a sketch of his career Captain Armes revealed the nature of the secret testimony given by Colonel Swords and Sergeant at Arms Canaday. In effect it was that Armes was one of ten picked men sworn to secrecy who were to act as a special bodyguard of the president. His orders were secret and even Governor Beaver did not know about them.

TAXATION IN CHINA.

Minister Denby Compares It Favorably With the System of Other Countries

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Charles Denby, United States minister to China, in his report to the department of state, says the system of taxation in China presents some decided contrasts to the systems in other countries.

Taxes, outside of Pekin, are paid on arable land only, the tax varying with the crop and the quality of the soil. Inside of the city of Pekin there is no tax on land, however, or on personal property. Goods passing through the gates pay a likin tax, but are exempt from taxation afterwards. The only tax on land and houses in Pekin is on the sale of real estate, 10 per cent being charged on the price obtained for the property sold. There is also a tax resembling a license fee.

Outside of Pekin, Chinese subjects are liable to be called on to perform certain duties whenever the emperor passes through their districts, but this duty may be avoided by the payment of a small tax.

All money spent on the public account in Pekin come from the imperial treasury, and the expenditure is not limited to the funds raised by taxation within the city. The bulk of the people in Pekin pay no taxes whatever. The man who owns his house and lot and his implements of labor, enjoys his earnings without toll or deduction.

The minister closes with the following comment on Chinese taxation, as contrasted with the system of taxation in the United States: "How different this condition is from that of our own cities, where sometimes 3 per cent on a high valuation is exacted for public purposes. To the absence of taxation of the body of the people may well be ascribed the permanence of the government and of the tranquillity and contentment of the Chinese race. The lesson of taxation in China might be profitably studied by the civilized world, but in view of the national, state, county, township and city indebtedness piled mountain high, the lesson must now be valueless to the United States."

THE SIOUX COMMISSION

Provisions of the Act Under Which They Will Operate.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The act under which the Sioux commission was yesterday appointed is similar in its general objects, provisions and form to the act passed in the first session of the fiftieth congress, which the Indians rejected chiefly because of the unsatisfactory price and terms of payment fixed them for the lands to be ceded the cinder.

The points of difference are summarized as follows: The Pine Ridge reservation is to be extended east eighteen to twenty miles, and the Rosebud reservation to be correspondingly reduced on the west. The [illegible] Sioux, who may elect not to take allotments of the great Sioux reservation, are to be paid $1.25 per acre, in lieu of the allotments instead of 50 cents as previously provided. The quantity of land to be allotted to the heads of families of the Sioux nation of their diminished reservation is double the quantity previously provided. The allotments in severalty are not to be compulsory, except as to orphans, without the consent of the majority of the male adults of the tribe. Every allottee is made a citizen of the United States and is given the benefit of and made subject to the laws of the state or territory within which he resides. The heads of families who desire to take allotments on the settled lands will receive 320 acres instead of 160, and the Poncas will get a double quantity on their own reservation that they would be entitled to under the former act.

Horses (mares) are to be substituted for oxen in the discretion of the secretary of the interior in the distribution of articles and things to be given to the allottees, and $20 each in cash to be expended for their benefit. The permanent fund is increased from $1,000,000 to $3,000,000 and at the end of fifty years the fund is to be expended for the benefit of the Indians, or distributed among them.

Religious societies must pay $1.25 per acre for any land they want instead of 50 cents. Ceded lands are to be sold to settlers at $1.25 for the first three years, at 75 cents for the next two years, 50 cents for the next five years, and then the government is to pay for the remainder at the rate of 50 cents per acre. The United States is to pay $1.25 per acre for lands reserved for school purposes in stead of 50 cents, as proposed in the previous act. [illegible] Cloud and [illegible] bands are to be paid for ponies taken from them in 1876.

Webb is receiving the former rate of pension for varicose veins of the left leg, and asked for an increase on the ground that total disability in the foot now exists. THE PANAMA CANAL.

A Talk With the President of the American Dredging Company

NEW YORK, April 23.—"In order that you may understand how things are now," said H. B. Slaven, "it is necessary to go into ancient history a little."

Slaven is president of the American Dredging Company, and recently arrived in this city from Paris.

"Up to the present time the French have spent on the Panama canal something near $250,000,000. For that they have fifteen miles on the Colon side practically finished. That is the portion which we have [illegible] and at the present time the canal exists there and is thirty feet deep the whole of the way. It is not quite completed because in places the banks have slipped. From the end of our contract to the beginning of the Culebra section could be finished in a short time, as the ground is easily worked, and its highest point is only fifty six feet above the level of the sea.

The Culebra cut is the sticking point. The highest point of the Culebra cut is over three hundred feet above the sea. French engineers calculated the slope at which they thought the sides of the cut ought to stand firm and they reckoned that ten million cubic meters of earth would have to be taken out. The earth refused to stand at the slope they said it would. In point of fact there were twenty million cubic meters of earth to take out in order to make that cut stand, and run a tide level canal through. This, of course, could be done if there were money enough put up. It is all a question of money. When I was in Paris I told the director general of the enterprise that I would take a contract to finish a tide level canal across the isthmus, and that I thought it could be done for $200,000,000 more, but I refused of course to bind my company to do the work for that.

"The French people have not lost faith in De Lesseps. I was present at a meeting of six thousand subscribers to the canal and there was nothing heard but 'Vive De Lesseps.' The people growled at the government because it had not passed some relief measure when the old company failed and an effort was made to have the government help it out. When that failed, a plan was set on foot by which a new company was to be formed and take possession of the unfinished work, plant, etc., and go on.

"In this scheme capitalists were interested," he added, "the Credit Foncier and backed up by such institutions as the Comptoir d'Escompte money was to be raised. The arrangements were about complete when the failure of the copper syndicate startled all France. The Comptoir d'Escompte nearly went down, and the way in which other banks was interested, and their fear of a run was best shown by the manner in which they came to the assistance of the Comptoir d'Escompte. No one can tell how many millions those French banks have put into that corner in copper.

"So it comes that there are no more people in France to put money up. De Lesseps' backers were small investors, and copper busted the big ones. This has cleared the ground for the Nicaragua people. There is just one chance that the Panama canal may come up again. The French people may build it through sentiment."

THE WRECK OF THE DANMARK

A Passenger Claims to Have Overheard a Damaging Conversation

NEW YORK, April 23.—Olaf Wugluhd, one of the few English speaking people among the Danmark's passengers who arrived here to-day from Philadelphia, said that before the accident occurred one of the Norwegian immigrants told him he had overheard a conversation in the officers' quarters. One of the ship's officers said to the others in the apartment that he thought the vessel would never reach New York. Her machinery was in bad order and had not received the care it should have had before the steamer sailed. Her pumps were broken and in case of an accident would be found to be of little service. "I am afraid the Danmark," the officer is reported to have said, "will meet the fate of the Geiser." The Geiser was a vessel of the same line which was sunk off Nova Scotia by a collision with the Thingvalla about a year ago. H[e] further said the vessel's coal boxes were afire on two occasions before the machinery gave out. The first fire occurred at 1 o'clock on the night of the 29th of March, the second at half past 8 in the afternoon of the following day. The passengers heard of both fires and showed more uneasiness over the comparatively slight accidents than when the vessel became totally disabled. He is loud in his praises of the captain and crew of the steamer Missouri, which rescued the Danmark's passengers.

KINGLY HONORS PROMISED.

COPENHAGEN, April 23.—King Christian has intimated that he will confer a decoration upon Captain Murrell, of the steamship Missouri, in recognition of his services in rescuing the Danmark's passengers.

RIOTING IN VIENNA

The Striking Street Car Drivers Commit Many Acts of Violence

VIENNA, April 23.—The strike of the car men is nearly at an end. The rioting, however, continues. The mob to-day stoned the cavalry and reinforcements of infantry were required. Many of the rioters were wounded and large numbers were arrested.

The government to-day offered to supply soldiers to drive the cars. The strikers then offered to resume work unconditionally. At 10 o'clock to-night a hand to hand conflict took place between the soldiers and the mob. The rioters tried to set fire to a gun [illegible] Hernals. The troops fired a volley and [illegible] and wounded many persons. The excitement continued up to midnight. Several shops were looted. The commissioner of police was stoned to death by the mob, and was rescued with much difficulty by a party of dragoons.

YELLOW FEVER IN RIO JANEIRO

It Is Reported To Be More Violent Than Ever Before Known

BALTIMORE, April 23.—Health Commissioner Stuart, of this city, to-day received a dispatch from Surgeon General Hamilton of the marine hospital service of the United States, notifying him that at Santos and Rio Janeiro, the two ports from which the coffee importers of this city receive almost all their coffee, yellow fever is raging with greater violence than ever before.

The doctors of Rio have become so much alarmed at the prospective loss of commerce of the country that they call the disease "accesso pernicioso," hoping the new name will allay the fears of the proposed tourists. At the time of the last report from Rio, there had been 155 deaths from yellow fever within four days.

The other escaped towards Tucson with $4000 or $5000 of plunder. Every avenue of approach to this city is being guarded and the officers are making every effort to catch the man.

It is reported that the man who has been captured has made a confession, claiming that his partner has escaped with all the funds.

A LETTER BY THE POPE

The Washington University Receives His Blessing,

AND ITS AIMS HIS APPROVAL

Scope and Purposes of the Great Institution—Words of Advice and Kindly Admonition to the American Bishops

BALTIMORE, April [illegible].—The Catholic Mirror to-morrow will publish the following letter addressed to the American bishops by Pope Leo XIII, setting forth the great [illegible] with [illegible] His Holiness [illegible] regard to the Catholic university at Washington:

"The earnestness with which you apply yourselves to the preservation of Catholic piety to promote [illegible] of your [illegible] and specially to supply the aids by which provision is made for the proper training of clergymen and young laymen in sound doctrine in every branch of learning, sacred and profane, gives us cause of [illegible] Therefore very welcome were your letters sent to us toward the close of last year, whereby we learned that the work on the great lyceum or university at Washington which you were promoting had so far progressed that all things were ready for the beginning of the [illegible] and we joyously accepted your university laws and statutes, which you submitted to our authority and judgment, in which matter we judge your purpose most praiseworthy, that you have resolved to set up in the centennial year of the establishment of the ecclesiastical hierarchy there a monument and perpetual memorial of that auspicious event by founding a University. Therefore anxious to satisfy forthwith your just desires, we have entrusted your university laws brought for examination and recognition, to the most eminent cardinals of the propaganda, that they might give us judgment concerning them.

"Now their opinions having been laid before us, gladly granting your earnest prayer, we sanction by these letters the statutes and laws of your university to promote students whose knowledge shall be crowned with academic degrees and the degrees of doctorship in theology, philosophy and canon law, and in the other sciences in which it is customary to confer the degrees of doctorship when in coming years the teaching of them shall have been established in your university.

"But we wish you, dearly beloved brethren, to preside with zealous care over the direction of the studies and the discipline of the students in your university, either through yourselves or through prelates chosen from you, whom you shall have judged proficient for this office.

"As the See of Baltimore is chief among the Episcopal Sees of the United States of North America, to the archbishop of Baltimore and his successors we grant the privilege of discharging the office of supreme moderator or chancellor of the university. Moreover we desire, and first of all that in the field of philosophy and theology the plan of studies or programme of subjects to be followed in your university be submitted to this apostolic see, in order that they may be approved and that the teachings in every branch of knowledge may be so arranged that your clerics and laymen equally may have the opportunity to satisfy the noble desire of knowledge by adequate instructions, but among these courses we wish that there be established a school of pontifical and ecclesiastical law, which especially we know to be of great importance.

"We exhort you all, furthermore, to affiliate to your university the seminaries, colleges and other Catholic institutions of learning as is suggested in the statutes, guarding however the independence of each one in order to derive from the various departments of the great university the greatest benefit for the greatest number. It is well to admit particularly to the schools of theology and philosophy, not only those who should have finished those studies, as pointed out by the third plenary council of Baltimore, but so even those who are set on the beginning or prosecuting of the courses of studies. Such a great university not only redounds to the honor of your country but also [illegible] the rich and salutary fruits belonging to the propagation of sound doctrine and the protection of Catholic piety. [illegible] we trust that the noble minded American faithful will not permit anything to be wanting, [illegible] you in order to bring the work to a splendid completion.

"The Washington University [illegible] thus established we forbid the founding of any other such institution without consulting the apostolic see, and what we have decided and appointed by these letters we judge will be clear proof of our desire and anxiety to promote in that region more and more the glory of our Catholic religion.

"Given in Rome at St. Peter's, on the feast of St. Thomas Aquinas, 1889, in the twelfth year of our pontificate. LEO XIII."

Messrs. Russell & Co., Portland, Oregon.—Gentlemen: Your letter of inquiry regarding the working of the 60-horsepower engine purchased of you at hand. In reply will say that the engine is all that you recommended it to be, as to power, regulation and economy. Both are fully loaded, and the friction can not absorb less than five horsepower, which is working the engine to its full guaranteed capacity, and the automatic regulation is so perfect that in plunging either dynamo in or out makes no perceptible difference in the speed, and we have started with cold water and run all night with one cord of wood. LIFE AMONG THE SAMOANS.

The Islands and People as Viewed by an American Ex Official

Talk With Thomas G. Young—The Apia Settlement—Products and Resources—Manners and Customs of the Natives

[illegible] as a great deal has already been written [illegible] the diplomatic difficulties between the German and [illegible] governments and the United States [illegible] almost the entire [illegible] Apia harbor—a reporter in an interview with Thomas G. Young [illegible] of Oregon obtained a few facts about the islands themselves [illegible].

Mr. Young [illegible] at Apia as [illegible] United States [illegible] from [illegible] during [illegible] who is [illegible] Hayes.

THE ISLANDS.

"The Samoan islands," said Mr. Young, "or, as generally known [illegible] Navigator islands, are situated in the South Pacific [illegible] from Australia and north from the Friendly islands. They are a group of nine islands [illegible] small [illegible] 10 degrees [illegible] south latitude and [illegible] west longitude. The largest of these are Savaii, Upolu [illegible] the largest [illegible] Upolu [illegible] the most [illegible] Apia [illegible] the capital."

APIA.

[illegible] Apia [illegible] harbor [illegible] Matautu point is a [illegible] which [illegible] largest buildings in the settlement.

Apia, the principal settlement, is located at the extension [illegible] river [illegible] Apia [illegible] prominent [illegible] in Apia [illegible] church in any other more civilized country.

A little over half a mile from the Hamburg hotel and still within the corporate limits of Apia is the residence of the American consulate. There are several buildings of modern style of architecture built at this point.

"The Wesleyan mission house, some distance beyond the American consulate, is about the last settlement on the opposite side of the harbor. The harbor is only about half a mile across at its opening from Mulinu point to the coral reefs opposite. Between Mulinuu and Matautu points, where it is widest, the distance is not much over three-quarters of a mile. The coral reefs upon which several vessels were wrecked in the great storm project above water about three or four feet at low tide and are completely covered by water at high tide.

THE SOIL AND PRODUCT.

"The land back into the interior from the harbor is mostly rocky and of little use for agricultural purposes. The island, with the exception of a few fertile, level plains, is completely covered with broken craggy cliffs extending in all directions. On most of it there is even very little grass or other nourishing vegetation for animals to feed upon.

"The Germans have several very successful plantations. The one at Vailele, about five miles from Apia up the coast, has 80,000 cocoanut trees in one grove. Mulifanua plantation is another one under Dutch management and annually yields large quantities of cocoanut and cotton. The Americans have a plantation but it is not yet fairly improved. The principal crops are cocoanut, taro, yams, bread fruit, limes, lemons, oranges and bananas.

IMPORTED LABOR.

"Strange to say that, notwithstanding the stout muscular build of the natives, all the work done on the plantations is done by imported labor. The natives are naturally indolent and not prone to overexert themselves when they can possibly get along without [illegible] Germans get all the help required for working the plantations from the New Hebrides and Solomon islands. The men are hired for three years at $4 per month, the contract stipulating that the employer shall [illegible] and return them to their homes at the expiration of the time for which they are engaged.

THE NATIVES.

"When I resided at Apia," continued Mr. Young, "there were about 300 [illegible] them at about the harbor. The native population of the islands is estimated at about 35,000. The native Samoan [illegible] humane [illegible] They are [illegible] the eyes are dark, the hair black and straight, but withal there is nothing repulsive in their appearance [illegible] they [illegible] capable of enduring a great deal.

In their personal habits both the men and women are [illegible] known [illegible] the only [illegible] that a certain [illegible] but the people [illegible] or them attaining the good old age of five score years.

The natives live principally on the fruits of the island and fish, [illegible] the waters [illegible] the island [illegible] of food [illegible] very few other animals. Very little cooking is done. What [illegible] is done in the old way by heating the water with hot stones.

HOUSES AND DRESS.

"The natives [illegible] huts that are built [illegible] ventilation [illegible] architecture [illegible] that in certain seasons of the year the islands are very hot.

The Americans and Germans residents there have built their houses more in conformity with modern architecture. Their abodes are neat, substantial structures, built of boards the same as any house in this country. Some of the buildings are made of stone. There is a church there built entirely of coral and a pretty and unique structure it is.

"The dress of the native is not very extravagant. Men and women alike dress in a garment called the lavalava. It simply consists of a girdle tied about the loins and is not a much more complex piece of wearing apparel than the fig leaf worn in the days of Adam and Eve.

RELIGION, EDUCATION, ETC.

"Whatever may have been the early religion of the Samoans, they are no longer barbarians. On the contrary they have already attained a very high degree of civilization. The prevailing religion is Catholic, although a few Protestant missionaries have succeeded in obtaining a foothold. Church is attended with great regularity, and praying and singing are customs that have become to many a second nature. Family reunions and prayer meetings are held frequently and the spirit of the services is entered into with great earnestness. Most of the natives are well educated. They can read and write and some even are taking up with other branches of learning.

"The Samoans are by nature a peaceable and quiet people. They are amiably disposed and easy to get along with. Their greatest fault, if such it may be considered in a tropical country, is their indolence. Very little is needed to make a living and supply their physical wants. Some of them [illegible] employment in making grass [illegible] the American and [illegible] the visitors who visit the island [illegible] are used as a circulating medium.

The General Passenger Agent of the Wisconsin Central Is Quite Complimentary.

After examining the leaflet Mr Barker said: "If I did not see this folder printed here with my own eyes I would say you had got the work done in the East and caused your imprint to be put on it. That work would be a credit to any city. I had no idea you had establishments here capable of turning out such work."

During his visit Mr. Barker took quite a look through the business part of Portland and was surprised at every turn. He goes away with good impressions of the North Pacific metropolis.

FEATHERED GAME IN THE MARKET

Snipe Have Made Their Appearance—Geese and Ducks—Law Protecting Birds

A number of snipe were in the market yesterday, the first of the season. With them was a [illegible] which has not [illegible] before. Game has been scarce of late [illegible] only a few spring geese and [illegible] available for the supply of [illegible].

It seems a wicked thing to shoot the little snipe who are on their way to the [illegible] grounds, but as there is no law to protect them at this season they must be [illegible] an agreeable addition to the [illegible] of those who can afford to indulge [illegible].

Inquiries have been made as to when the [illegible] Mongolian pheasant expires. A bill was introduced in the legislature last winter [illegible] a new law protecting these birds and to [illegible] the same [illegible] pheasants are shot and to have the [illegible] protection during the close season. This bill passed the house but failed in the senate.

[illegible] protecting the Mongolian pheasants will expire on November [illegible] and all shooting of them before that date will be illegal. It is well known, however, that in many places up the valley they are shot without regard to the law and that but few arrests are made on this account.

THE BATTLE NOT YET WON.

"United We Stand Divided We Fall," So Say the Federated Trades

Fredericksburg Beer—More Organization—Report of the Boycott Committee—Inducements to Unions Working Card System

[illegible] meeting of the Federated Trades [illegible] evening, April [illegible] in the chair.

A telegram from the [illegible] company was received [illegible] the assembly [illegible] that the agent would be in Portland this week.

[illegible] on organization stated that the brickmakers had been visited and reported progress. The committee reported one large brick [illegible] employed Chinese and that there were immigrant union brick makers unable to find employment at their trade.

The boycott committee reported that there was difficulty in getting beer for the saloon keepers who stopped patronizing Weinhard by reason of [illegible] that the Star brewery of Vancouver, and the United States brewery of this city positively refuse to serve Weinhard's customers and [illegible] opinion they are in the pool though the United States brewery employs one union brewer.

The committee has as yet no evidence that [illegible] of the Gambrinus is in the Brewers Protective Association but there were saloons that could not get Gambrinus beer. In enforcing the boycott the committee reported constant progress. At the last meeting, the officers of the several unions were requested to correspond with sister unions in Washington territory and reports of favorable action were received from the cities on the sound, also a favorable report from Astoria, Or.

The following unions by their delegates, reported that they had indorsed the boycott and had forbid members from patronizing saloons where Weinhard's beer was sold under penalty of fines: The Laborers' Protective Union, Cigar Makers' Union, Bakers' Union, Brotherhood of Painters and Decorators, Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, Tin, Sheet Iron and Cornice Makers Union, Stone Masons Union, Iron Moulders Union, Tailors Union, Stone Cutters Union, and the Typographical Union, reported a by-law enforcing the boycott of any organization represented in the American Federation or the Federated Trades Assembly, that violators of this boycott when detected, would be disciplined by fines.

[illegible] from the Laborers' union, stated that at the last meeting of their union the boycott was sustained by a majority vote, but the meeting was a slender one; that since then an effort was being made to call a special meeting to reconsider the question; that he was not in sympathy with the question of reconsideration or of a meeting for that purpose. D. Mulcahy, from the same union, spoke against the boycott, and in favor of a reconsideration.

W. M. Hart from the Cigar Makers union said that his union suffered from the boycott as the saloons under the ban had thrown out union made cigars, and that he was out of work in consequence, but that he was ready and willing to make sacrifices in the cause and that his union would stay with the [illegible] union in the fight. This view of the question was taken by all the other delegates except Mulcahy, from the Labor union.

Mr. Frost, from the Stone Cutters union, was given a seat as alternate delegate.

[illegible] matter of [illegible] the invitation to participate in the parade April 30 the one hundredth anniversary of the [illegible] President Washington was [illegible] but a motion to [illegible] the unions to join in the parade was [illegible] of the members being engaged to other [illegible] which had prior claims on them.

[illegible] committee [illegible] promise on [illegible] the use of the hall free next Sunday afternoon for the purpose of organizing an Italian Benevolent and Aid Society.

The matter of [illegible] the brick makers was [illegible] by [illegible] but as the brick makers were not in the [illegible] was referred to the committee on organization.

[illegible] use of the card system was considered [illegible] all the delegates [illegible] A [illegible] do not go into force on [illegible] in course of construction. A motion [illegible] of the card system [illegible] unions did not prevail. The resolution [illegible] the system go into effect the first of May, [illegible] on the minutes stands without any [illegible].

[illegible] the traveling agent of the Fredericksburg brewery, is to be directed to the boycott committee for information regarding saloons that [illegible] beer.

Much time was occupied in giving reports of subordinate unions as there were two questions of more than ordinary moment to canvass. A more thorough enforcement of the boycott in [illegible] and how to best secure co-operation in outside cities and next the best use of the working card system. This drew out the views of delegates regarding their obligations to contractors and architects and as enforcing the card system might conflict in places where they didn't wish to [illegible] friction, the propositions referred to were [illegible] for the purpose of meeting this difficulty [illegible] is devised to secure all work [illegible] to union men on jobs where it can be [illegible] will be for this purpose [illegible] it was considered best to give the unions all the power of contractors which the assembly has authority to grant, trusting to them to use good judgment in carrying out its purposes.

The receipts of the evening were $[illegible]

A motion to adjourn prevailed at 11:[illegible] before the regular order of business was finished. The next meeting will be held Monday evening May 13.

SMALLPOX IN WHITMAN COUNTY

Two Patients Allowed to Die Without Medical Attendance—A Serious Charge

Whelan, in Whitman county, has just passed through a very exciting time caused by that dread disease, smallpox. The first victim, Peter Kloncn, lived at Whelan; his aged parents residing with him. His attending physician on his second visit brought the marshal of Pullman City to see the patient and when the marshal declared the disease to be smallpox the physician would not attend to the case. The man was then made through neglect [illegible] to take proper care of him. The [illegible] buried the remains two days [illegible] and after a further delay of three days sent a nurse to take care of the aged couple.

The mother was next taken. She had no doctor to attend to her and the result was another funeral at the county's expense. The county others have proven clearly that it is much cheaper to have funerals than to provide physicians.

The old gentleman escaped infection and now brings charges of robbery against the nurse. It is well known that the old lady had money and notes in her possession [illegible] and all disappeared, as well as the nurse.

WHO SHALL BE GUARDIAN?

Indicted For Sending An Obscene Letter Through the Mails

Grand Jury's Work—He Assaulted His Girl—In the Toils—Sore Vexed—Police Matters—He Was Drunk

The application of Mrs. Harriet B. Campbell to be appointed guardian of her grandchildren Ben and Linda Holladay was argued in the county court yesterday and submitted to Judge Catlin, who announced that he would render his decision next Tuesday. Ben Rufus Ingalls, whom Mr. Holladay in his will named for guardian, was present. His attorney Judge Caples argued his side of the case and set forth that it was the desire of Ben Holladay and wife that Ben Ingalls should be the guardian of the children. J. B. Williams, who represented Mrs. Campbell, held that a testamentary guardian could not be appointed under the statutes of the state.

GRUENINGER IS SORE VEXED

Ignatz Grueninger, residing on South Sixth street, appeared in the police court yesterday afternoon to swear out a warrant for the arrest of Onno Swager, an Italian, on a charge of assault and battery.

Last fall Grueninger's wife sued for a divorce in the state circuit court, but the decree was denied her. Since that time, says Grueninger, she has been living with an Italian next door to him.

There are twenty three Italians in the house and through his wife's instigation Grueninger claims they have been doing everything in their power to annoy and harass him with the view of getting him to leave, so that his wife can dispose of the property. A short time ago they pulled out his grapevines and otherwise caused damage to his garden. Last Saturday, as he was returning home with some groceries, several of them pushed him over and one for whose arrest he swore out a warrant, threatened to take his life.

HE ASSAULTED HIS LADY LOVE

About the middle of last February George Smith and Mollie Jackson (both colored) had a lovers' spat which terminated in the latter having a warrant issued for the arrest of the young man on a charge of assault. Smith was duly arrested, but as his mother offered to be personally responsible for her son's appearance when wanted he was released, but when the case was called he was nowhere to be found.

Recently Constable Kugan saw the boy on the street and arrested him. The case came up for a hearing in Justice Phelan's court yesterday and Miss Jackson, who proved to be a very unwilling witness, being on hand. She claimed to know nothing about the case, but admitted enough to warrant the court in fining the prisoner $1[illegible].

A TRUE BILL FOUND

The United States grand jury found a true bill in the case of J. F. Bories, charged with sending an indecent letter through the United States mail to Henry Danziger. The parties involved are boys, sons of well known citizens and fellow craftsmen, being both upholsterers by trade. While the offense is a somewhat serious one, it seems strange that the matter has been allowed to go so far, and that a silly and disgusting quarrel between two foolish boys should be brought into the courts, and the ponderous enginery of the United States laws put in motion to settle it. The general opinion is that a good rattan or a paddle well applied where it would do the most good would have been the best remedy in this case.

YOUNG HOBSON IN THE TOILS

Monday afternoon a warrant was issued for the arrest of George F. Hobson for passing a fraudulent check for $[illegible] on Philip Neu of [illegible] First street. At [illegible] o'clock in the evening Hobson's attention was called to an item regarding a warrant for his arrest which had appeared prematurely and went into hiding. He was found yesterday afternoon by Constable Simmons, however, and placed under arrest. Justice Tuttle committed the prisoner to jail in default of bail. He had tried to "square" the matter with Neu the night previous to his arrest but was unsuccessful. He will be examined to-day.

A DRUNKEN WITNESS

When District Attorney McGinn was ready to proceed with the trial of Charles Moran and Edward Driscoll, indicted for stealing a watch, in the criminal court yesterday morning, Theodore Bowlby, the complaining witness, was not on hand and Judge Stearns was told that he was on a "bender." The trial was postponed until 1:30 and in the meantime Bowlby was arrested beastly drunk. He was able to testify when called to the stand, and Moran and Driscoll were convicted.

"WITH INTENT TO KILL."

The United States grand jury have returned not a true bill in the case of the United States against Samuel A. Lester, charged with assault with intent to kill Charles Pitt, an Indian on the Warm Springs reservation. Lester was clerk at the Warm Springs agency and in a difficulty he had with Pitt it was charged that he attempted to shoot him with a pistol.

CHARGED WITH PERJURY

In the case of the United States vs A. Futardo the grand jury yesterday returned not a true bill. Mr Futardo was charged with having perjured himself in testifying to improvements made on a claim taken up in Clatsop county by D. Rierson, but the jury found that he was honest in what he had said and ignored the charge.

POLICE COURT

Fight drunks constituted the docket in the police court yesterday afternoon. They were disposed of as follows:

I. M. Canahess, Mrs. Conley, and James Moran, fined $10 each; John Sullivan, Albert Feld and John Beck $5 each; Walter Rice, $2; James Lindsey, $20.

CHARGED WITH "APPROPRIATION."

Chin Yin Kee was arrested by Constable Sam Simmons yesterday on a charge of appropriating $16 belonging to Lem Kien to his own use. The prisoner's case was put over until to-morrow in the South Portland justice court, where his examination will take place.

THE CRIMINAL COURT

In the criminal court yesterday Dan Smith, an old man, pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny in a dwelling, and will be sentenced to-day. The demurrer to the indictment of John Buckley was set for hearing Friday.

LICENSED TO WED

Marriage licenses were granted yesterday for Adolph Dietrich and Adele F. Keidel; William B. Norman and Aimee L. Sherlock; Henry J. Brooks and L. M. McBride; John Johnson and Martha Parr; Adolph Schneider and Mary Backman.

A BIG MILL TO BE BUILT

At Klamath City—Side Track Being Put In—Construction of the Dam

A gentleman connected with the Klamath River Lumber and Improvement Company returned yesterday from Klamath City, the site where the company's mill is to be erected at the point where the O. & C. railroad crosses the Klamath river. He reports that some sixty men are at work there putting in a side track and spur to the mill site. Klamath City is sixty miles below Linkville, and the river there is something over fifty yards wide, and about six feet deep. The dam to be built will be forty feet wide at the base of stone, timber and brush, and will be twelve feet high, and on the top of it will be a free bridge to take the place of the ferry now there, to cross which, with a team, costs $1.50.

The timber for the mill is being sawed elsewhere, and work on the construction will be commenced as soon as the railroad siding is completed. Mr. T. J. LaFlesh, who has had supervision of the lumbering business of Senator C. C. Washburn, of Minneapolis, for the past twenty years, will have charge of the construction of the dam and the improvements of the Klamath river for the company.

EAST SIDE LOCAL ITEMS.

Motor No. 2 for the Sunnyside Line Arrived from the East.

The New Road to Elliott's Glacier—Church Officers Elected—Easter Services—Houses Going up—Religious Meeting

The motor of the Willamette Bridge Railway Company was unloaded yesterday from the flat car on which it came from the East. The car was pulled up to N street, where the unloading was done. It was no child's play to handle the motor, remove it from the flat car and place it on the track, as it weighs about eighteen tons. A large force of men were engaged at work on the job about 11 A. M. and it was 3 P. M. before the motor was set off the flat car. A temporary track was laid from the end of the [illegible] street in the form of a curve. When it was in readiness the car was pulled on to the track and gently let down the [illegible]. The motor standing so long on the track caused some delay to passing trains and [illegible] engines waiting to pass. [illegible] the street cars had to be [illegible] while the motor was in progress. The motor is a handsome and powerful machine. It is marked "No. 2 Sunnyside." She will be able to pull several loaded cars up N street.

JOYOUS EASTER SERVICES.

Easter services at St. David's Episcopal church on Sunday last were of the most interesting character. The floral decorations were most beautiful [illegible] crosses [illegible] wreaths [illegible] flowers [illegible] the church. The evening services commenced [illegible] the Sunday school [illegible] devoted to singing carols and counting the offering of the several [illegible].

At the close [illegible] the rector, Rev. J. W. Sellwood [illegible] amount received [illegible]—being by far the largest amount ever received by the school for the same [illegible].

[illegible] service was held [illegible] the church and a large number of chairs and settees were [illegible] the services [illegible].

Services opened with an Easter anthem followed by the [illegible] service for Easter day, and the sermon was by the rector, Rev. J. W. Sellwood, who took for his text Acts [illegible] chapter ii, verse 24, "Whom God hath raised up, having loosed the pains of death: because it was not possible that he should be holden of it." It was one of the rector's very best and was listened to with evident interest by the large congregation. The sacrament of the Lord's supper was celebrated at the close, at which 166 communicants were present and partook.

Children's Easter service took place at 7:30 P. M., at which time the church was filled with children, teachers, parents and friends, many of the latter being obliged to put up with standing room; others could not find even that and went away. The service consisted of singing carols, selections of psalms, a short address by the rector and the distribution of beautifully decorated Easter eggs and other appropriate presents to the pupils. The singing of the carols by the children was of the very best and was highly spoken of by many of the audience.

The collection in the evening, added to the collection taken up at the morning service, which was for diocesan missions, amounted to $101. The services of the day will be long remembered by all who attended.

AT HOOD RIVER.

W. W. McGuire returned yesterday from Hood river, where he went on a visit to his mother, who is there in the hope the pure air may prove beneficial. He reports J. M. Hamilton, who went there last week with a force of men, at work pushing the construction of the wagon road between Hood river and Mount Hood. The road will be thirty feet wide and will be made a good highway. It will cover a distance of about twenty-eight miles. The hotel at the base of Mount Hood will contain fifty-seven rooms for the accommodation of the visitors. It will be located on an elevation and will command a grand view. Both the road and hotel enterprises have strong financial backing by Portland capitalists. The stages, when they commence to run between Hood river station and Mount Hood, will make connection with the 11 A. M. train. Horses will be changed twice on the way. Since work was begun on the road there has been quite a boom in that neighborhood and there is a rush for timber claims along the road. A mill company has been organized to build a flume from Lost river to Hood river station to float out the lumber. There will be lively times there this year.

ELECTION OF CHURCH OFFICERS.

The annual meeting for the election of vestrymen of St. David's Episcopal church took place [illegible] evening, at which the following gentlemen were [illegible] Hon. John M. [illegible] John W. [illegible] Perry, Captain J. H. West. The reports of the secretary and treasurer were read, which showed the affairs of the parish to be in a highly satisfactory condition. At the close of the church meeting, the new vestry was called to order and an election of officers took place which resulted in the election of Mr. A. Bulluck as secretary and Mr. John W. Gwilt [illegible] Mr. J. [illegible] Sellwood was appointed as rector's warden and L. Shannon as church warden.

RECKLESS DRIVING.

Some man whose name could not be ascertained came very near causing a serious accident by reckless driving yesterday morning. He was driving a meat wagon in Stephens addition, and in crossing the railroad track to get on the bridge that leads to the Milwaukie road he dashed across the ties at a great speed. There was a little girl in the wagon at the time and as soon as the front wheels struck the tie the shock threw her out. She fell on her shoulder and the side of her face and seemed to be very badly hurt. The man picked her up and putting her in the wagon drove away at a great rate of speed, lashing his horse as if the animal had caused the accident.

RELIGIOUS MEETINGS.

A committee has been appointed by the Centenary M. E. church to wait on Rev. James Conley and ascertain if he will not consent to hold a series of meetings in that church next week. Rev. Conley is now holding meetings in Adams street church and will continue all this week. The committee will ascertain whether he will hold the meetings next week and if so it will be announced. He is an earnest and energetic speaker, and makes an impression wherever he goes.

NEW ENGINE.

A new Westinghouse engine is being placed in Hogue's saw mill which will operate the small 50 light dynamo that has been used to light the saw mill. The lights which have illuminated that portion of Morrison street bridge east of the draw, will be disconnected from the larger dynamo's circuit and attached to the small. This will reduce the number of lights on the large circuit about ten lights. There are now about eighteen miles of wire in the large circuit.

WILL RETURN THE COMPLIMENT.

Some time ago the East Portland K. of P. lodge gave a grand banquet to which Vancouver lodge was invited and sent a large delegation. The Vancouver lodge are arranging to treat the East Portlanders in the same hospitable manner, and last night Comrade Oliver of Vancouver lodge, came over and tendered the invitation.

HOUSES.

A gentleman who has just made something of a canvass of Stephens addition reported yesterday that there are not less than forty one new houses in process of construction in that part of the city. This shows that there is substantial growth in that portion of the city, as well as in other directions.

GOT LEFT EVERY TIME

What Befell a Man Who Tried to Catch Too Many Street Cars

"It is possible to have too much of a good thing," said a well known citizen last evening, "and the adage applies to street cars always as well as any other good thing." When asked to explain himself he said:

"I was out to see a sick friend at Sixth and Harrison in the evening. I started to come down town about [illegible] o'clock. At [illegible] street I saw the O. & C. train passing and as it was going slowly I had a notion to jump on. I thought however I would take no foolish risks as there was a street car line on Third street. As I was about half way down from Sixth to Third the car passed down Third and the driver [illegible] busy making change [illegible] did not see me. [illegible] I would go on [illegible] First [illegible] the speed for which the cars on that line are noted, and I was left again.

[illegible] line on Second street and started to patronize it. I saw the car standing by the [illegible] and would have caught it if some one had not stopped me to admire the handsome [illegible] of the Willamette Bridge Electric Company and when I turned the car was gone and I was left again. While I stood debating whether I should try for the First or Third street car, one passed down Third and I started for First only to see another flash by like a meteor.

"By this time I was becoming rather weary of this sort of thing and I started down Second street seeing cars passing up and down at every cross street on both First and Third till I reached Yamhill, where I caught a car and rode down to Front, and here I am. If I had waited on any street I should have secured a ride and saved a quarter of an hour, but by trying to catch one line after another I was badly worsted."

This magnificent property comprises 1100 lots and lies immediately between the city of East Portland (population 12,000) on the south and the city of Albina (population 4000) on the north, being really a "reserve" between two populous centres with a combined population of SIXTEEN THOUSAND. It is high, commanding a view of the entire cities of Portland, East Portland and Albina, and is reached by the street cars of the Willamette Bridge Railway Co. from either Portland or East Portland. This company is now operating two lines of street cars, one running north from Holladay's addition, through the heart of East Portland, across the Morrison street bridge, and the other running due west across the new steel bridge, both lines terminating in Portland. In addition to these two lines the cars of the Vancouver motor line run directly through Holladay's addition from north to south. The property can also be easily reached from the "west side" by either the Southern Pacific Railroad Company's steam ferry or by the small ferries running from Portland to Albina. Some of the finest residences on the "east side" are located in this addition. Many of the most prominent residents of Portland and East Portland are now purchasing property in Holladay's addition, and many elegant and substantial residences will be constructed there during the coming year. A magnificent Boulevard, Holladay avenue, 100 feet wide, cuts through the entire property from west to east, and is now one of the most popular drives out of the city. This connects with the new steel railroad and wagon bridge (spanning the Willamette) on the west, thus giving easy access into Portland from this most desirable property. Address or call on

WONDERS OF THE HUMAN BODY.

The skin contains more than 2,000,000 openings which are the outlets of an equal number of sweat glands. The human skeleton consists of more than 200 distinct bones. An amount of blood equal to the whole quantity of the body passes through the heart once every minute. The full capacity of the lungs is about 320 cubic inches. About two-thirds of a pint of air is inhaled in each breath in ordinary respiration. The stomach daily produces nine pounds of gastric juice for digestion of food, its capacity is about five pints.

There are more than 500 separate muscles in the body, with an equal number of nerves and blood vessels. The weight of the heart is from 8 to 12 ounces. It beats 100,000 times in 24 hours. Each respiratory duct is one-fourth of an inch in length, of the whole about 9 miles. The average man takes 5½ pounds of food and drink each day, which amounts to one ton of solid and liquid nourishment annually. A man breathes 18 times a minute, and 3000 cubic feet or about 375 hogsheads, of air every hour of his existence.

To keep the system in perfect order no remedy is so good as electricity, and that is proving itself the most efficacious of all known treatments. Dr Darrin submits the following cures recently performed through this subtle agent:

The Oregonian.

PORTLAND, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 24.

FREIGHTS EASTWARD.

Oregon has only begun the production of fruit, but a good beginning has been made and in a few years the quantity to be shipped will be very great. California has become a producer of fruit on a scale that Oregon can scarcely expect to equal, and is obliged to resort to every expedient to place those fruits on the Eastern market. For that purpose fruit unions have been organized, agencies established, a system of open auctions has been adopted, and all that business enterprise can accomplish has been done to place the fruits on markets of Eastern cities. Oregon must follow this example and endeavor to find customers for its own excellent products.

Our section labors under a disadvantage in not having so many varieties early in the season as to enable us to make the whole-car shipments that are made from California. Early in the summer they can ship apricots, peaches, cherries, plums and grapes, so as to supply a fair quantity from a single fruit-farm to load special trains that speed across the continent at reduced rates. While rates are reduced from what they once were, however, they are yet so high as to be pronounced by the Pacific Rural Press "extortionate" and far beyond what the producer can afford to pay for transportation. The board of trade of San Jose have protested against the charges made for transporting California products to the East and denounce it as extortion and a death blow to horticultural enterprise. THE OREGONIAN has examined this matter as far as it can to ascertain what the result has been where Oregon shippers have attempted to send their early fruits to the East, and the result is far from encouraging. A fair examination of the question from a business standpoint reveals that little money was made by shippers during 1888, or can be made so long as conditions remain unaltered, with the present rate of charges.

Cherries cannot be risked as freight and must be sent by express. All the line from Spokane easterly costs the same price per box of ten pounds. We are told that we have as good terms as any one can get, because there is a combination whereby all the transcontinental lines have the same rates both ways. The consolation of knowing that our California neighbors are fellow-sufferers is supposed to mitigate the fear of loss and compensate for rotten cherries reaching their destination in bad order. No mitigation of freight rate, however, is made to compensate for this loss. The price is the same for decayed fruit as for the very best. You ship cherries, and they are a week on the way instead of four days, and of course they arrive in bad condition.

You have been fifteen years cultivating choice fruit trees, and when the crop is gathered, packed and shipped, you feel happy. It is choice fruit and you feel that the car load should arrive in good order and bring a good price. The splendid Bartletts and great plums, that are more golden than the rainbow, are wrapped and boxed and in the car, bound for the market. Unfortunate again, because the freight charge eats up so much and the market being glutted there is no margin left for profit and the price received is barely sufficient to pay expenses and not quite as much as the low price the fruit could have been sold for at home. The fact is, freights are so high that there is actually little hope to realize such a price as good fruit should bring.

You grow prunes, and after many years you make enough to load several cars, and study where to ship them. You finally load your car and conclude to take the chances. The freight is nearly two and a half cents per pound for all sorts, and, as they have to compete with foreign cheap fruit from the Danube, you have a lively time to dispose of your goods. Freights again are ruinous. Now, for years past similar merchandise has come West at 65 cents per cwt. from Chicago, though the rate may be raised by the new schedule. While every imaginable freight, including Turkish prunes, were brought here to compete with our own products at a comparatively low figure, Oregon prunes sent East cost nearly 2½ cents per lb to any Atlantic terminus. How can we compete with France or Turkey under such conditions? This is a matter that should come before the interstate railroad commission; it should be looked into by the Oregon state commission, and the Board of Trade of Portland and that of every other city in Oregon and Washington should combine to complain in loud and very frequent tones of the extortionate charge made for carrying all our products eastward. Our canneries put up a very superior quality of fruit, and it should go East at reasonable rates. Our green fruits will soon be in shipping condition and the different railroad companies should combine to encourage the business, not allow themselves to destroy it. We are entering a new era of production and need encouragement and assistance, and these companies have as much interest in having freights to carry as fruit-growers have in growing fruits to be shipped. There is a mutual interest, and when once properly developed and established it will earn great money for all the transportation lines as well as for the fruit growers. All the latter need is a fair rate and no favor. Give them a chance to succeed, and the country will be prosperous and the fruit-grower will hold his own against the world and make money as he should do, though not in any excessive degree.

The railroad companies of the transcontinental lines have as great interest in developing production as the producers themselves. At present figures they double the value of fruit and receive as much for transporting it as the grower does for its first cost, if not more. This looks unreasonable and is so. They kill the goose that lays the golden egg when they discourage production. Freights of all kinds on fruits bring them a great deal of money, and the business will increase greatly under reasonable treatment. In fact, the railroads have the greatest single interest in fruit-growing, and they should study the interest of the producers as the surest way to advance their own interests permanently, and not wait for the interstate commerce commission to interfere to protect hard working and enterprising fruit-growers.

THE USUAL RESULT.

The Puget Sound Co-operative Colony, organized some three years ago by professional labor agitators at Port Angeles, W. T., is sharing the troubles and nearing the fate of all organizations of its kind. Hundreds of honest men have been duped and robbed through such organizations. Community property and community interests of a financial nature, though the chief stock in trade of professional labor agitators of the George Venable Smith type, cannot be successfully engineered with Americans for stockholders. The reasons of this are few, but obvious. First, the "agitator," having lined his pockets with the proceeds of community labor, becomes the creature that he ensnared his followers by denouncing—a "soulless monopolist"—and, disdaining protest, rules as an autocrat. The honest American, of the granger type, naturally objects to this and begins to yearn for a division of the property, talks of "land in severalty," and grows thin and irascible in thinking how nice it would be if he could get even a portion of his money out of the concern and know just what is his own. Disintegration goes on with reasonable rapidity after this point is reached by a majority of the colonists, as rapidly, indeed, as the complicated affairs of the organization will permit; the manager decamps, being urged to this step by prudential motives, and the sadly wise "co-operatives" gather up such fragments (which are usually small and few) as may be left of the venture and go their ways.

The average American citizen who has energy and spirit enough to acquire property at all would rather have a small amount of which he holds the individual title deeds than a promised fortune in a co-operative scheme. And in this preference he shows a strong element of common sense and a sturdy independence that are his most commendable characteristics. It is impossible not to feel sympathy for honest dupes of designing men, but there is consolation in the fact that they will not be duped a second time in the direction of co-operative labor.

In order to raise some money a Hillsboro church got Hon. George H. Williams to go there and deliver a lecture. Here was the result, as narrated by a local paper: "Hon. George H. Williams's lecture at the Congregational church, last Tuesday night, was very poorly attended. The lecture was a very cool and logical argument and would rank high as a literary effort, but as a card to draw the shekels out of unwilling pockets it was a lamentable failure. If the church is still desirous of raising money to pay for an organ, we advise them to hire a minstrel troupe or give a series of match baseball games, something that the average citizen will appreciate."

There is a great demand for bridges in Linn county, one at Jefferson 395 feet long, with approaches of 475 feet, reaching over into Marion county; one at Stayton 253 feet from bank to bank and a total length of 675 feet; and a third at Waterloo, for which there have been petitions for the past fifteen years. The first two, it is estimated, would cost about $40,000, of which Linn county would have to pay only one-half. All these will be built, but it is hardly to be expected in one year.

Salem, with her street car line, is an object of envy to her sisters in the valley. Albany will not be far behind, however. Bids for the construction of a line in that city have been advertised for, and soon the transient traveler may ride from the depot to the hotels for the small sum of 5 cents.

The force in the state printing office is now at work on the session acts of the Fifteenth biennial session of the Oregon state legislature—the laws of 1889. The work will be quite voluminous, but it is expected the books will be issued from the press by the 22d of May.

The only complexion Powder in the world that is without vulgarity, without injury to the user, and without doubt a beautifier, is Pozzoni's.

YOUNG FUGITIVES INTERCEPTED — Fred Davis a 14 year [illegible] with his parents at Beaverton went to Sunday school Sunday afternoon and that was the last seen of him at that place. [illegible] thought he [illegible] to the metropolis [illegible] the boys and girls. And some [illegible] city and Special Officer Woods was detailed to keep a lookout for him. Inquiry [illegible] railway ticket offices it was learned that two small boys had bought tickets for Walla Walla Monday night. The large one, answering to the description of young Davis, had $10 and borrowed 15 cents more to make out the full amount necessary to pay the fare. A dispatch was accordingly sent to Walla Walla, where the young fugitives were placed under arrest yesterday morning. The officer went after them [illegible] to their homes. It is thought the smaller boy belongs in Beaverton also.

HE WILL BUILD A THEATER — Mr [illegible] Marquam [illegible] an OREGONIAN reporter yesterday [illegible] his block opposite the [illegible] hotel [illegible] to build a theater [illegible]. He has graded a piece of his property [illegible] Lincoln streets, on which [illegible] the houses to be removed from [illegible] proposed theater. His tenants have been notified to move out and the houses [illegible] preparations to move them [illegible] of May. The plans for the theater are all prepared and the work of excavation [illegible] begun as soon as the houses and the [illegible] school building are moved. The building will be 110x90 feet [illegible] will cost a great deal of money [illegible] Mr Marquam. The public [illegible] it is understood that the building will cost over $[illegible].

THE COMING [illegible] — The coming fight between [illegible] and Jackson [illegible] the talk among the sporting fraternity. A gentleman who has just returned from San Francisco says that Jackson [illegible] a formidable antagonist [illegible] Jackson told him privately that [illegible] the fight with a rush or with the idea of making a quick finish. If any rushing was to be done he would let Cardiff [illegible] money is being put up on a basis of 100 to 60 [illegible] backers. Within a few days, however, Cardiff's stock is advancing. It is well known that Cardiff has been out of training for some time. He is now making remarkable progress, and even many of those who are backing Jackson [illegible] that Cardiff will give the Australian a hard rub. It is expected that it will be a determined fight on both sides.

INTO FORTY ACRE TRACTS — Sheriff Kelly and Mr Frank [illegible] who own a tract of 640 acres of land [illegible] miles east of town, yesterday sent County Surveyor Hurlburt out to survey and divide it into forty acre tracts with roads between them. Their object in doing this is to provide a number of small farms for the convenience of immigrants of limited means. It would be a good thing if many large farms throughout the state were thus subdivided, as it would tend to the better settlement and better cultivation of the land, and many who come here could buy one of these small farms, while the number who are able to purchase large tracts is limited. It will be a happy day for this state when a little farm well tilled and a little house well filled becomes the general rule.

CHINESE THEATRICAL COMPANY — A company of Chinese actors has been organized here to play through the East. It comprises twenty-two members, each of whom is a bright particular star, and will insist on having his name on the bills in 300-line [illegible] letters. They have wardrobes which for gorgeousness will throw the dresses of Abbott, Davenport or Mary Anderson completely in the shade. If properly billed and managed they will doubtless play to big houses all through the East, but as it is understood they have a Chinese advance agent, and have not been booked on any circuit, it is to be feared that, like many another theatrical company, they will come to grief and [illegible] count the ties from Chicago home [illegible] baskets [illegible] their shoulders.

GRAND EXCURSION — INAUGURATION DAY — The grandest river [illegible] in the world is the excursion up the Columbia river from Portland to the famous rapids of the Cascades. The Columbia river shows its glory with its waterfalls and mountain scenery. To give citizens, strangers and tourists a chance to take this ride, the Ladies' Social Union of the Albina M. E. church have secured the unrivaled steamer Multnomah [illegible] day. This being a national holiday [illegible] schools will be suspended. The excursion will return in time for evening celebrations. Fare $1, children 50 cents. Steamer will leave Ash street wharf [illegible] A. M. and will touch at [illegible] wharf East Portland, Stavers wharf, Albina, St. John's and Vancouver.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING — During the thunder storm Monday morning, the residence of Mr. Prettyman on the section line road, about a mile east of Mount Tabor, was struck by lightning. Mr. Prettyman was stunned by concussion and his wife [illegible] dinner was so shocked that she dropped the frying pan. No damage was done. It is very seldom that lightning strikes in this vicinity, and Mr. Prettyman is entitled to consider himself a very attractive man. He will however be comforted by the old saying, which has been verified by the experience of years, that lightning never strikes twice in the same place.

GOING STEADILY AHEAD — Work is progressing favorably on the roof of the big hotel. A number of the dormer windows are about completed, and it is seen as the work progresses that the roof is going to make a handsome appearance when finished, and will be, as Mr. Whidden, the architect, stated, very different from the ugly looking roof shown in the [illegible] pictures of the hotel which have been printed. The plumbers are busy at work on the building, and long rain spouts are being run down the sides. Piles of tarred paper are on the ground, and it will not be long till the slaters are at work.

EASTER AT THE UNITARIAN CHURCH — The services were [illegible] interesting and the church was elaborately decorated. At 10 A. M. ten children and [illegible] adults received baptism. The choral [illegible] was [illegible] rendered and the sermon was from the text "But Jerusalem that is from above is free, which is mother of us all." The communion service was attended by [illegible] 200 persons, and twenty-seven new members were [illegible]. At [illegible] Portland chapel [illegible] services of the afternoon and evening were well attended, floral decorations beautifully adapted to Easter day.

IT'S A SEA LION THIS TIME

One of These Savage Creatures Sent Up for the City Park—But He Won't Do

Some time since THE OREGONIAN asked [illegible] cannery men down the Columbia to send up a seal for a mate for the lonely one in the city park. Of course every cannery man on the river was ready to oblige in the matter, but Mr. [illegible] Elmore had the best seal fishery, and so [illegible] up a baby seal and [illegible]. This was seals enough for the accommodations in the city park, and THE OREGONIAN gratefully acknowledged the favor received and gave notice that no more seals were required. The paper, however, did not get to Astoria in time, and consequently yesterday morning the Telephone brought up as a [illegible] the following note:

ASTORIA, April [illegible]

To THE OREGONIAN:
This [illegible] on the war path, so keep the city babies away from him. Compliments of
J. O. HANTHORN

A reporter at once repaired to the Telephone and there sure enough was a very handsome sea lion about half grown. Half a dozen small boys had gathered around the pen in which the animal was confined, and finally one of them poked it with a stick. Then it rose in its wrath and let forth a howl like the wail of a lost spirit and made a spring at the box, and those boys, and all those men, too, went out of the door like [illegible] out of a gun.

The animal continued to utter howls which fairly raised the roof, and the reporter racked his brain to recall whether he had ever in any way wronged Mr. Hanthorn, and considered what he should do with the ferocious and untamed lion of the seas. A consultation was held with Captain Scott and Agent Seeley, and it was concluded that it would not do to let the animal [illegible] return to the destruction of salmon.

It was proposed to put it in Sucker lake, at Oswego, but fears for the safety of the residents in that section forbid. At length it was concluded to allow it to be put on exhibition at Malarkey's market, and there it attracted great attention during the afternoon, being surrounded by crowds all the [illegible] reporter drew a long breath, having as he supposed disposed of the lion for the time being, and started off on his regular rounds.

During the afternoon he was stopped 400 times and called across the street 257 times, and called back 184 times by different persons, who excitedly asked him, "Have you seen the sea lion?" And now THE OREGONIAN takes off its hat and makes its best bow and returns thanks for the seals and sea lion, and asks of the good kind cannerymen please let up and don't send any more specimens of the Phocidæ or Platyrhynchus till further orders. When a good pond is made in the city park a whole rookery of the animals will be received with thanks.

GREAT CÆSAR, WHAT AN ESCAPE

The following from the Astorian of yesterday shows that we were let off easy, for it is a wonder that the whole eleven had not been sent along. Just imagine the feelings of Councilman Geddes when he sees how much of a feed of salmon for them cost:

When Matt Friedenburg, who tends to Sam Elmore's trap near Sand Island, went to that place yesterday morning, he found therein eleven sea lions. He also found thirty four salmon heads, going to show that there had been thirty four salmon, but the eleven sea lions had followed them into the trap and ate $4.50 worth of fish Columbia river salmon.

The sea lions were big fellows and showed fight. One of them, a 500-pounder, was sent up on the Canby and went to Portland last night with J. O. Hanthorn's compliments. When the park commissioners get that fellow they'll have a [illegible] on their hands. He is a thoroughbred and will give them a benefit.

MOVEMENTS ALONG THE RIVERS

The bark Kitty is on her way to this city from Astoria in tow of the Oklahama. She will load lumber at this city for Hong Kong.

The steam schooner Augusta is taking on a large cargo of general merchandise at the foot of A street. She will sail to-morrow night.

The work of driving new piling along the dock between D and C streets has been finished and the work of replanking the lower dock commenced.

The steamer Mischief met with a mishap on Yaquina bar last Wednesday. She beat back under sail to Astoria and was beached to repair damages to her propeller.

THE IMMIGRATION BOARD.

Proceedings of the Regular Weekly Meeting Held Yesterday Afternoon

One Hundred Thousand "New Empires" and 100,000 Folders To Be Reissued—Several Advertising Propositions Considered

At the special meeting of the Oregon Immigration board held at [illegible] P. M. yesterday there were present Charles H. Dodd, president; C. T. [illegible] Sutton, Ellis G. Hughes, Eugene D. White, D. F. Sherman, Thomas F. Osborn, Wm. McEwen and Wallace R. Struble, secretary.

The reading of the minutes of the previous meeting was on motion omitted.

ADVERTISING PROPOSITIONS

J. F. Clark, publisher of the American Dairyman of New York, submitted a proposal for advertising, which was laid on the table for the present.

J. C. Steele of San Francisco, who is now canvassing the Northwest in the interest of an elegant brochure to be issued by him, made the board a proposition to insert a bird's-eye view of Portland in colors upon the last page of the cover of his work for the sum of $[illegible]0. The publication which is to be distributed two editions—one for the Oregon Short Line and O. R. & N. Co., and the other for the Denver, Rio Grande & Western—will have a circulation of 20,000 copies, and will embrace many fine views of Northwest scenery accompanied by full descriptive matter. The subject was quite fully discussed, and the board finally, on motion of Mr. [illegible], referred to the advertising committee for further consideration.

Mr. A. C. Sanford addressed the board and proposed to publish a series of letters in several Eastern papers, embracing Wisconsin and New York. After some discussion the sum of $[illegible] was ordered appropriated to Mr. Sanford in consideration of which he agrees to publish three letters each in the [illegible] (Wis.) [illegible], the [illegible] (N. Y.) [illegible] and the Madison (N. Y.) Record. Mr. Sanford is an old printer and publisher well known throughout Wisconsin and New York. He has recently located in Portland. His letters will no doubt be received with credit among the people who know him.

Rev. F. G. White's proposal to distribute Oregon literature at the International Sunday School convention in London was discussed quite fully and on motion indefinitely postponed.

The first monthly payment of $[illegible]0 to the Chicago Times for telegraphic items was ordered paid.

NEW PAMPHLETS

The matter of new editions of the board folder entitled "Portland and the Great Northwest" and The New Empire being under consideration, it was ordered that the printing committee at once prepare the copy for new editions and the secretary secure bids for printing, material, etc., for an edition of 100,000 of each publication.

The New Empire will hereafter contain 128 pages, which will give space for a complete statistical resume of the trade and public improvements of the city of Portland. The new edition of "Portland and the Great Northwest" will be fully illustrated with new cuts and will be altogether much more attractive than heretofore.

Action upon the insertion of the board's advertisement in 6000 weekly newspapers of the East was deferred until another meeting to await estimates from several leading advertising agencies. The amount involved runs into thousands of dollars and the board feels that it should have full competition in the matter of the contract.

The next meeting of the board will be held on Monday, April 29, at 3:30 P. M.

POSSIBILITIES.

We have learned in our business experience that the merchants who watch for the things possible and do not attempt the impossible are the successful ones. We found out long ago that it was not among the possibilities to do a long time credit business and at the same time become leaders in low prices. We adopted our motto, "One Price to All," terms strictly cash, and have made friends by the score by adhering to this policy. It gives us the coin to handle large quantities of goods at spot cash prices, and makes it possible for us to give immense "special sales" at which we dispose of vast quantities of goods at prices impossible for credit houses to compete with. Our "Special Sales" have become a part of the history of our house, and are waited and looked for by thousands in the Pacific Northwest. We dispose of more goods at one of these sales than many large concerns would dare purchase. Why is all this? you ask. Simply because our "Special Sales" are genuine affairs. We make sweeping reductions and no make believe business. We do you a favor by selling you goods cheap, and do ourselves a favor at the same time by turning into cash at a small profit large blocks of merchandise. As per announcement in our last "ad" we will open the summer campaign by a great

PORTLAND, WEDNESDAY, APRIL [illegible]

THE [illegible] ARGUMENT

Mr. Arthur Mackenzie, in a recent letter to THE OREGONIAN, inquired whether it did not [illegible] the value of a training in the classics [illegible] it is said that John Bright delighted in Milton, and in his great speeches he quoted from Milton with extraordinary aptness and effect. And he asked: "Was not Milton's magnificent diction preeminently classical?"

It is not at all to the point in controversy to-day whether Milton's magnificent diction was preeminently classical or not, because the conditions of popular education and the value of a classical training are completely changed in the 250 years that have elapsed since Milton's day. In his day the few, the fortunate few who had either wealth or patronage, were given a classical training, and being men of comparative leisure they gave themselves up to classics chiefly as the average man [illegible] to-day. He would [illegible] and would not if he could. In Milton's day a classical education was of practical consequence, as it was the language of [illegible] between courts.

Milton's political pamphlets, directed at the great polemic, Salmasius, were [illegible] written in Latin, since Latin was then the common language of the scholars and courts of Europe, and therefore of diplomatists and court secretaries the classics had a practical value in Milton's day that has long since passed away. English, French and German have become the diplomatic languages of the great powers of Europe. Furthermore, we have the testimony of a great classical scholar, Lord Macaulay, that even in Milton's day the ore of classical thought and feeling had been passed through the crucible of the great minds of Europe, separated from its dross, and its gold had become part of the material of modern literature. The best juice of classical thought and feeling, as Macaulay said in a passage of fervent eloquence, had been absorbed and assimilated by Dante, Cervantes and Shakespeare, and he might have added by Montaigne and by Rabelais, who were both thoroughly familiar with the classics. The fact that Macaulay finds in the supreme and universal excellence of Shakespeare evidence that while not a classical scholar he owed much to the classics indicates clearly that Macaulay believed that the translations of Plutarch and Homer had already given Englishmen enough of knowledge to take up effectively into their own thought and feeling all that is valuable to Englishmen, without a classical training. If this was true of Shakespeare's day, it certainly is true to-day, when all the remains of Greek and Latin thought and feeling worthy of attention have been over and over again translated into English by men who included not only hard literal scholars like Plumptre, but masters of poetic expression like Dryden, Pope, Sotheby, Smart, Bryant and Lord Derby. Add to these translators the vast number of great writers of poetry and fiction and oratory who have fed on the best English thought since the day of Shakespeare, after our language had sucked up all the richest juices of classical thought, and it is absurd to pretend that because in the day of Bacon and Milton a classical training to the cultivated few had considerable practical value, therefore a classical smattering, which is all any of us have the time to get, is worth a young American's effort for four years who expects to hoe his own row and cut his own fodder. The best minds of England, Huxley, Spencer and Tyndall, protest against a classical training [illegible] as part of the nomenclature of his daily talk, and these men protest on the ground that all for which the study of the classics was once desirable had passed away upon revival of literature in Europe. As for Milton, where his diction is magnificent it is because he was a man of genius, and where his diction is inferior to that of Shakespeare in melodiousness and [illegible] a certain unquestioned spontaneity of [illegible] and expression [illegible] which Milton's scholastic temper and training have hampered and handicapped the swift movement of his genius. Shakespeare is never [illegible] but Milton is sometimes tedious, and [illegible] because he loads his diction down too much with his ponderous learning. We have already assimilated, as Macaulay points out, all classical learning and turned it to the ends of general culture by making it [illegible] of English literature. To English literature we go to-day for what 300 years ago men went to classics. To go to the original classics to-day for culture instead of going to modern literature would be like going to Carthage to reach Rome. Keats's splendid lines "On First Looking Into Chapman's Homer," printed the other day by THE OREGONIAN, touched the point at issue. Keats had [illegible] classical education, but on looking into Homer made into English by Chapman, Keats was touched to a power of poetic expression as fine as anything ever penned by any classically trained poet like Tennyson or Longfellow.

BEATEN IN MASSACHUSETTS

The people of Massachusetts have decisively rejected the proposed prohibitory amendment. [illegible] sixteen years had a prohibitory liquor law on its statute book, but it was repealed in 1875 because experience had demonstrated the fact that it was ineffective as a law and was not in accord with the true principles of moral reform.

Increasing numbers are finding out what was apparent to sound thinkers from the first, namely that the progress of temperance [illegible] depends on the building up of personal character, intelligence, firmness, resolution [illegible] morality—rather than on an effort which [illegible] always have been a useless one to put it out of the power of those who would [illegible] alcoholic liquor to obtain them. [illegible] It forgets that [illegible]

ASSISTING AND ASSISTED EMIGRANTS

After having for years worked upon the philanthropic but unpractical idea that the United States was an asylum for the oppressed and distressed of foreign lands, without regard to the part that idleness and vice had wrought in their woe-begone, poverty-stricken condition, our general government was at length compelled, from an instinct of self preservation, to pass a restrictive law that would turn paupers and imbeciles back to the countries whence they came. There was a crying need for this restriction for half a generation at least before the practical idea overcame the theoretical one, and consented to the law's enactment. Facts were [illegible] again and again showing that Great Britain [illegible] assisted large numbers of paupers and other incapables to our shores, where they were transferred without ceremony from the steerage of emigrant ships to almshouses, yet still the idea of unbounded hospitality, joined to a sturdy pride in extending protection to the weak, prevailed over practical common sense and allowed this burden to be forced upon the tax-paying citizens of the republic. Figures added their strength to facts [illegible] the idea was compelled to give place to the real, and means were devised to turn the broken down [illegible] back to the almshouses whence they came.

In thus shutting the door of ill-advised hospitality in the face of presumption and promoting relief from an outrageous and intolerable burden, care was taken to leave the doors still open and the invitation still out for industrious, self-supporting men and women who sought in the United States opportunities [illegible] denied to them by the conditions under which they were born and reared. Not only this, but recognizing the fact that misfortune of various kinds lurks in the pathway of the emigrant, that shipwreck strikes [illegible] reasonably well provided [illegible] leave the worthy and deserving stranger at our doors without [illegible] government has provided a fund for the relief of such as are honestly entitled to help, and [illegible] for their benefit.

The wreck of the Danmark furnished opportunity for a just call upon this contingent fund, and Secretary Windom authorized the commissioner of immigration to draw upon it to the extent required to relieve the necessities of these shipwrecked strangers. Through the aid thus extended and the efforts of the agents of the Thingvalla line, to which the Danmark belonged, the immigrants were detained but a few hours in Philadelphia before proceeding westward to their final destination in the Middle Northwest.

Aid in such circumstances is rendered without a thought of charity. It is the approved method of humanity to counteract a misfortune that no human foresight is able to forestall, and that individual effort cannot contend against successfully until again put upon its feet. A community justly indignant at having its pockets rifled by a horde of needy incapables, sent over for a selfish and dishonest purpose, generously puts its hands in its pockets, willing and even anxious to relieve the necessities of those who through misfortune find themselves in need of temporary assistance. The difference between helping thrifty people to help themselves and supplying the steady drain that thankless unthrift makes through the connivance of selfishness upon the substance of industry, is here well illustrated. It was not the money that it cost to maintain the assisted emigrant that was grudged; it was the injustice that taxed up the costs and the short-sighted policy that permitted it that incited the protest that finally resulted in the law that sent British paupers back to British almshouses without permitting them to land.

It costs something in the long run to be a terminus, as Tacoma is beginning to find out. With the water works, gas service, electric light plant and all the water front in the city in the hands of the Northern Pacific, and an ordinance awaiting the signature of the mayor giving the same corporation exclusive control of twenty-five miles of streets for street car privileges for fifty years, citizens who have been deluding themselves with the idea that they had some interest in the place are beginning to rub their eyes and look about them in the attempt to discover [illegible] making one, and want the mayor to veto the ordinance. It seems strange that having so eagerly paid the price they are not satisfied with the long coveted "terminal facilities," present and in prospect, which were an inevitable part of the bargain. The case furnishes another illustration of the well established fact that possession is not as satisfactory as pursuit.

It is a favorite assertion with the prohibitionists that when the state licenses the sale of liquors, or, to put the expression with exactness, taxes their sale, it "goes into partnership with the saloon." A collateral assumption is that license or tax favors the saloon and assures to it the protection of the state. But in fact at common law the right to sell alcoholic liquors is as free as the right to sell wood or potatoes. In a recent case the supreme court of Indiana says: "The law in exacting a license fee does not grant a privilege that did not before exist, but on the contrary lays special tax on a pursuit, which but for the statute might be followed without paying any special tax." This is exactly the status of license. It does not sanction and protect a thing that was previously illegal, but imposes a burden or restriction on a business that without the statute would be pursued free of tax as a common law right.

The incidents of a first class shipwreck wherein the vessel goes to the bottom and the passengers and crew are opportunely taken off by a rescuing ship would not be complete without a birth when the disaster was at its hight. Hence the public was prepared for the announcement of an addition in the natural way to the large passenger list of the steamer Missouri after she had taken the living freight from the foundering Danmark. A young Danish woman coming to America to meet her husband, took this romantic opportunity to bring her baby along. Of course the storm howled and the vessel rocked, and equally of course the little one was christened "Atlanta Missouri" in honor of the boisterous ocean upon which her life voyage began and the gallant ship whose timely assistance enabled her to be born at all.

Chinees has had the customary blaze that must always come to a town to persuade it to banish wooden structures from its business streets and build with stone or brick. It is invariably true that a fire will sweep away the first erections that as a matter of course are of wood, and that people rebuild with brick. If there is a town of $000 inhabitants on the face of the earth that has not undergone this experience of trial by fire, that place is an exception to the general rule. San Francisco, Sacramento, every other town in California, Portland, Salem, The Dalles and every town in Oregon of importance all have had the fiery visitation that led to more permanent structures and to more reliable business. How much could be saved by building at first with brick! Ellensburg and other Eastern Washington towns are building brick houses and will be the better for it.

A RAILROAD MAN'S OPINION

What the General Passenger Agent of the Union Pacific Has to Say of the Pacific Northwest

Mr. E. L. Lomax, general passenger agent of the Union Pacific railway, who has been looking over the Northwest for a few days past, leaves to-day for Omaha by way of the Southern Pacific. Mr. Lomax was [illegible] representative of THE OREGONIAN and briefly stated his impressions of the North Pacific coast.

"I have been surprised beyond measure during my visit here," said Mr. Lomax. "This is my first view of the Northwest, though I have been on the coast before. I had no idea you had such a country here. It is beyond question a great and a grand region and its resources appear to be practically inexhaustible. The country round about La Grande, Union, Pendleton, Walla Walla, Farmington and the east of the mountains [illegible] is wonderful in its richness. I have not looked at the Willamette valley, but am prepared to believe all I have heard regarding its advantages. Puget sound was a revelation to me. The legitimate resources of that region—mines, timber and fish—are sufficient to maintain a vast population.

"You have a splendid city here, Portland, and [illegible] to be the metropolis of the Northwest for all time, but your people must not go to sleep [illegible] You ought to push your new hotel to completion. It will do more for your city than any other one thing. Tacoma is now the distributing point for the tourist and capitalist travel. When the Hotel Portland is open, Portland will take the precedence among this class. It is a valuable class, too.

"As a field for railroad enterprise I know of none more inviting than this. It ought to attract the attention of railroad builders very largely in the near future."

Mr. Lomax added that his present visit was necessarily brief, but he hoped to come again before long and take a further and more comprehensive look.

A LETTER FROM GLADSTONE

Contains an Earnest Tribute to the Statesmen of the American Revolution

George Washington was their acknowledged and illustrious head, and to him and to them I have long felt that I owed no trivial part of my own public education. Long, without limit of length, may that Union flourish under the blessing and favor of God with the foundation with which their names are inseparably associated.

G. WASHINGTON ON A LARK

A Letter Evidently Written by Him While His Head Was Still in a Swollen Condition

NEW YORK, April 23.—Livingston Hamersley, great grandson of William Livingston, the last royal governor of New Jersey, is in possession of one of the most unique mementoes of George Washington. It is a letter written on parchment by George Washington to William Livingston, in which the father of his country refers to a little "lark" of the previous evening, when he and the last royal governor of New Jersey had evidently had a jolly good time. Following is a copy of the epistle:

"Oh William, what a glorious time we had last evening. I am paying the penalty, however, this morning, as my swollen head will attest. How does your head feel? After leaving, you yelled on the fair Virginia. She is one of God's fairest creatures. But I am trying to paint a picture. The ablest artist could not reproduce yours.

As ever thy brother, GEORGE WASHINGTON."

DEMOCRATIC PRACTICES

How the Ballot Box at Plumnerville, Ark., Was Stolen

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 23.—Warren Taylor of Morrillton gave testimony before the grand jury yesterday concerning the stealing of the ballot boxes in Conway county at the election last fall. He said that on the night of the ballot box robbery he and Charles Reed, a lawyer, George Bentley, city marshal, and seventeen others went from Morrillton to Plumnerville. The crowd halted outside of town and five of them went in to reconnoitre. In a short time they returned saying all was quiet, and the crowd returned to Morrillton. When half way home, it became generally known that one of the party had the ballot box. When they arrived at Morrillton the box was taken into the back room of Wells' store and its contents burned.

REDUCED RATES

Railroads Make a Big Cut Between New York and Mexico

NEW YORK, April 23.—A reduction of 50 per cent in freight rates between New York and Mexico has been made by the railroads from this city. The break was caused by the action of the Ward line of steamships, which is taking freight as low as 10 cents. It was forced to this by the competition of the Mexican subsidized Lopez line.

Will be Buried in Mexico

NEW YORK, April 23.—The body of ex-President Lerdo will be taken to Mexico for burial.

CHICAGO, April 23.—The body of Ignatia Alos, Mexican consul, will be embalmed and sent to Mexico at the government's expense.

WIRES MUST COME DOWN

Mayor Grant Causes Much Alarm in New York City

NEW YORK, April 23.—Mayor Grant this morning ordered the removal of all the telephone and telegraph wires on Broadway from the city hall to Fourteenth street, and from Fourteenth to Fifty-ninth street. This includes all sorts of wires except those of the fire department. This will create havoc as the telegraph companies, especially the Western Union, have important offices along the route. It is believed that the down town Wall street is beginning to be scared at the prospect of being cut off.

CLEARING AWAY THE POLES

NEW YORK, April 23.—Broadway from Twenty-third to Thirty-third street is now entirely cleared of poles. A gang is working between Thirty-third and Forty-second street, and expects to have that portion cleared to-day.

A DELICATE COMPLIMENT.

"Ah, Miss Smithers, you have a complexion which would make the fortune of the manufacturers of the soap you use, if it could be advertised. Pray, what is the brand?"

"Thanks awfully, Mr. Flatterer, I never use soap. I use pure, clear water freely, and take a certain tonic occasionally which removes the necessity for any cosmetic or soap."

The "tonic" Miss Smithers mentioned is a powerful curative as well. It is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and is the best remedy for "female weakness" known. By fortifying the health, the bloom of youth and the soft, round lines of the girlish face are preserved to an age when most women are wrinkled and gray from pain and suffering.

WARRANTED. "Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee of satisfaction in every case, or price ($1.00) refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrappers, and faithfully carried out for many years.

As an invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms, commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

A MOTHER'S LOVE.

Saves Her Ten-Year-Old Child

My little child ten years old was sick of Bright's Disease. Her hands, feet and eyes were terribly swollen. Four of our best physicians attended her, but her life was despaired of. [illegible] a mother's love [illegible] saved [illegible] David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, made at Rondout, N. Y.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

How happy I am that I determined to try this course [illegible] the [illegible] Words fail to express [illegible] Favorite Remedy [illegible] Mrs. Laura A. Kendall, West Bartlett, Vermont.

Makes the Weak Strong

If you are run down, or have that tired feeling as a result of overwork or the effect of the changing season, you should take that best of all tonics and blood purifiers, Hood's Sarsaparilla. It purifies and enriches the blood, tones the stomach, rouses the torpid liver and kidneys, creates an appetite and builds up the system. Thousands who have taken it with benefit, testify that Hood's Sarsaparilla "makes the weak strong."

"My little daughter, 11 years old, was taken sick last summer, complaining of headache and dizziness, which I thought was caused by malaria. By advice of a neighbor I procured a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, I am glad to say, helped my little girl at once. I now keep this valuable preparation in the house, and when she complains of headache I give her a dose, which never fails to relieve her." MRS. KATE SULLIVAN, Yuba City, Cal.

"I have taken three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and consider it the best blood medicine I have ever taken. It builds up my system, makes me sleep better, gives me a good appetite and improves my health generally." MISS L. LENNAN, Portland, Me.

"I have troubled for many years with violent headache. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I am almost wholly cured. I earnestly recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all who suffer with headache." [illegible] Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me of blood poison, overcame headache and dizziness, so that now I am able to work again." LUTHER NASON, Church St., Lowell, Mass.

TRADE MARK

FRED'S MILL, TEXAS, June 20, 1888.—The Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Ga.—Gentlemen: One of my children was troubled with rheumatism and boils for about two years. We gave her various kinds of medicine, but without profit, and began to despair of curing her at all. I was persuaded to try your Swift's Specific. After she had used several bottles the diseases all disappeared, and she is now a hale, hearty and healthy girl twelve years old. Another child has just become afflicted in the same way, and I am using the S. S. S. and anticipate a prompt and permanent cure. E. C. WAGGONER.

RICH HILL, MO., July 7, 1888.—The Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Gentlemen: Our little girl when but three weeks old broke out with eczema. We tried the prescriptions from several good doctors, but without any special benefit. We tried S. S. S., and by the time one bottle was gone her head began to heal, and by the time she had taken six bottles she was completely cured. Now she has a full and heavy head of hair—a robust, hearty child. I feel it but my duty to make this statement. Respectfully, H. T. SHOBE.

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., June 27, 1888.—The Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Gentlemen: In 1884 I contracted blood poison, and at once sought a physician, who treated me for several months. By his advice I went to Crab Orchard Springs, Ky., where his course of treatment was carefully observed. I recovered, as I thought, but the next spring pimples began to appear on my face and body. These gradually increased to sores and running ulcers. I was advised to try S. S. S., and immediately after taking it I commenced to improve, slowly at first, but more rapidly afterwards, and soon nothing remained to tell of my trouble. My blood is now thoroughly cleansed, and my system free from taint, and I owe my present condition—a perfect cure—to your medicine. I cheerfully give this statement that others who have suffered as I have may reap the same benefit. HARDY M. BURT, 64 West Ninth St.

HOMER, LA., May 25, 1888.—The Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Gentlemen: About two years ago my general health gave way entirely. I was so debilitated that I almost despaired of ever feeling well again. All that the physicians done for me brought no permanent relief. Friends insisted that I should give S. S. S. a fair trial, although I thought it would be throwing away money. After taking a thorough course, my health and strength returned, and I must say that S. S. S. alone cured me, as I discarded all others while using it. As a tonic I can most heartily recommend it; for general debility, it certainly is a specific. W. F. BRIDGES, J. P.

HOMER, LA.—I know Mr. W. F. Bridges, and will say that his statement is correct. JOSEPH SHELTON, Druggist.

THE POLICE TRIUMVIRATE.

How the Change in the City Charter Was Made.

Results of the Investigations of an "Oregonian" Reporter Among the Journals and Other Records of the Last Legislature.

An OREGONIAN reporter went to Salem Monday and examined the records of the last session of legislature to gather what information was obtainable in relation to the amendment to the new city charter providing that the police commissioners now in office shall hold their respective offices until their successors are elected and qualified. The investigation brought to light nothing to prove that the much talked-of amendment was smuggled in by fraud

The most important discovery was that the senate journal of February 18, the date of the passage of the charter bill by the senate contains not one line to show that the bill was ever amended in the senate not even a scratch of a pen to show that the bill was referred to the Multnomah senatorial delegation, though it is generally known that the document was referred to the senators and the other day Senator Simon asserted that the amendment was duly made in committee meeting The journal reads that on the date stated house bill No 199 (the charter bill) came up in the senate on first reading and that Senator Carson moved that the rules be suspended and that the bill be read the first time by title This motion prevailed and the senator moved a further suspension of the rules and that the bill be read the second time by title This motion prevailed also and Senator Carson moved a still further suspension of the rules and that the bill be read the third time and placed on its final passage This motion prevailed The remainder of the entry goes on to tell that the bill passed and that its title stood as the title of the act

The only scrap in addition to the journal entries having a tendency to prove that any changes were made to the bill in the senate is an official message from John H Shupe chief clerk of that body to Speaker Smith of the house It is to be found on page 76 of the House Journal of February 18 and reads as follows

SENATE CHAMBER SALEM Feb 18 1889

Mr Speaker I am directed by the president to inform you that the senate has passed house bill No 199 with amendments thereto attached, and the same is herewith transmitted to you for the consideration of the house and for enrollment

Many consider the omission of the amendments from the journal of the senate as a fatal defect, and think if the charter is tested in the courts on this ground it might possibly be invalidated while others hold a contrary view Whether or not this circumstance is sufficient to nullify the charter one thing is certain the journal should be complete in this respect.

CHARGES OF FRAUD

While the legislative records at Salem do not bear any evidence of fraud the statements of the Multnomah representatives would seem to imply that they believed that some underhand means were resorted to All have been seen except Mr Earhart, who is in California, and Mr Fisher of Albina who paid but little attention to the Portland charter Representatives Thompson Strowbridge Northup, Gilbert and Harrington have already stated through THE OREGONIAN that they did not hear the amendment read in the house and neither saw it or heard of it during the time it is said to have been pending. Representatives Ladd and Hume and Senator Mackay made similar statements yesterday Mr Thompson has boldly charged that the bill was "doctored" after it had run its course in the house, virtually laying the crime at the doors of the clerks of the senate Now Mr. Hume comes to the front and supports the statements of his fellow representatives.

THE ORIGINAL BILL.

Arriving at Salem, the reporter repaired to the state house and began overhauling papers. The first one taken up was the original bill, which the house considered engrossed It is the identical bill drawn up by the Portland council and forwarded to Salem for introduction by Representative Gilbert. It takes up a number of sheets of ordinary type writer paper divided in the center by a red line The left side of the sheets was left blank while on the right side were pasted slips of the printed amendments clipped from a small pamphlet issued by the city council. The bill was indorsed as follows

Engrossed house bill No 199 introduced by W B Gilbert.

A bill for an act to amend certain sections of the charter of Portland

Read first time January 29 1889
Read second time January 30 1889
~~Referred to Multnomah delegation.~~
Passed February 15 1889
Amended and returned, and amendments concurred in
J T GREGG
Chief Clerk of House

IN THE SENATE

Read first time February 18 1889
Rules suspended and read second time February 18 1889
Amended and referred to Multnomah delegation with leave to report at any time to consider senate amendments February 18
Read third time and passed February 18 1889
JOHN H SHUPE Chief Clerk of Senate

THE AMENDMENTS

Fastened to the copy of the bill were thirteen pages of legal cap the first of which bears the heading, Amendments to House Bill No 199 The document was not dated and there was nothing to tell from what house the amendments came A perusal of it brought to light the amendment relating to the police commissioners. The amendments to the police commission act read as follows

Sec. 72. The police force of the city of Portland shall be appointed and organized by three police commissioners who shall be styled the board of police commissioners of the city of Portland, and who shall exercise the powers, duties and authority hereinafter enumerated The police commissioners now in office shall hold their respective offices until their successors are elected and qualified

The police commissioners shall be residents voters and taxpayers of the city of Portland and all vacancies occurring in the board by death or resignation shall be filled by appointment by the mayor with the consent of a majority of the common council The commissioners shall take the oath of office required of other city officers and enter upon the discharge of their duties on the first Monday in July succeeding their election. The board of police commissioners shall hold their stated meetings at such time as they shall fix upon by vote at a room to be provided for them by the common council and they shall keep a record of all their proceedings. They shall elect one of their number president who shall hold such position for one year and until his successor as president shall be elected. Special meetings of the board may be called by the president by giving notice to the other members of the time and object thereof. The auditor and clerk of the city of Portland shall act as clerk to said board and shall certify to the common council the names of all persons appointed to office by said board The board of police commissioners has power and it is their duty within said city of Portland to organize, govern and conduct a police force within the limits aforesaid and to that end may

1—Appoint a chief of police one or more captains of police and a suitable force of regular policemen

2—Remove or suspend any member of the police including the chief and captains for any cause which they may deem sufficient to be stated in the order of removal or suspension

3—Make all necessary or convenient rules or regulations for the organization and conduct of said police force for the care and management of the city prison for receiving and hearing complaints against any member of said force, for the removal or suspension of any member of said force and for the forfeiture of all or any portion of the wages that may be due any member of such force on account of misconduct or negligence in the discharge of his duties The common council of said city may however, by ordinance, provide for the working of prisoners and for the punishment of prisoners who shall refuse to work

The board of police commissioners is authorized to adopt rules and regulations not inconsistent with the city charter for the management control and organization of the police force

Sec 73—The board of police commissioners shall receive no salary or compensation for their services. A majority of said board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of any business. The board of police commissioners have power and may from time to time fix and determine the salaries to be paid to the chief of police and policemen but such salaries shall not exceed the amount limited in section 74 and they shall audit and allow all the necessary expenses of conducting and running the police department. The board shall on the first day of January of each year report to the common council the estimated amount of salaries and other necessary expenses of the police department for the ensuing year and the common council must make appropriations to meet the expenses of the police department subject to limitation contained in subdivision No 2 of section No 6 of the charter of the city of Portland and pay the same monthly as other accounts are paid out of the city treasury

WHAT THE CALENDARS SAY

The calendars of the two houses were next inspected. The senate calendar shows that the charter bill was amended and passed by the senate February 18, and that the house concurred in the amendments the following day Here is what the house calendar says

No 199 Mr Gilbert—Amending charter of Portland Read first time January 29 1889, by title read second time January 30 and referred to Multnomah delegation reported back February 12 ordered engrossed read third time February 15 1889 and passed senate amended and passed amendments concurred in reconsidered and referred to Multnomah delegation to report at any time reported back February 19 1889 and adopted.

HOW THE BILL FARED.

The subjoined extracts from the house journal of February 18 and 19 tell how the bill fared when it was returned to the house amended and while it was in the hands of the Multnomah delegation.

Mr Thompson moved to refer the bill and amendments to the Multnomah delegation

Mr Gilbert moved to amend by moving the house concur. The amendment was adopted

Mr Northup moved to reconsider the vote by which amendments made by the senate to house bill 199 (amendments to Portland charter) were concurred in having voted in the affirmative and that said bill and amendments be referred to a select committee consisting of the Multnomah delegation with leave to report at any time, carried and so ordered

SALEM Feb. 19 1889

Mr Speaker Your committee the Multnomah house delegation to whom was referred house bill No 199 introduced by Mr Gilbert, with the amendments thereto offered by the senate would report the amendments back with the recommendation that they be concurred in and that the bill as amended do pass. J A STROWBRIDGE Chairman

Then follows the report of the delegation embodying the senate amendments to the bill The report was written in typewriter and in section 72 is to be found the clause which has created so much talk the past few days The police commissioners now in office shall hold their respective offices until their successors are elected and qualified

Representatives Thompson and Hume filed a minority report. They objected to the clause limiting the expenditures of the fire department to the funds to be raised by a 3½ mill tax, and to section 25 of the amendments which requires the fire commissioners on January 1 of each year to submit to the common council an estimate of the expenditures for the ensuing year

The journal shows that representative Northup moved the adoption of the majority report and that the motion prevailed

CHIEF CLERK GREGG'S STORY

J T Gregg chief clerk of the house was found at his law office on State street in Salem

It is my recollection said he that all proceedings relative to the charter bill in the house were perfectly regular I remember pretty well the course of most of the important bills, and this being an important bill I was very particular that everything should be straight in the house I remember when the bill passed the senate with amendments I was in that body's chamber and one of the Multnomah senators requested me to tell the boys, meaning the representatives, to hurry it through their side. Returning to the house I repeated what had been said to me to him, and a moment later hearing considerable talk as to whether the bill should be referred or not I came to the conclusion that the boys were in no hurry to push the bill through

HE WOULD HAVE VETOED IT

Governor did you know that the charter had been amended in respect to the police commissioners when the bill came to you for your consideration? was asked of Governor Pennoyer

No City Attorney Adams and several other Portlanders told me that the bill contained nothing with which I was likely to find objection so I did not look it over Charter bills are generally so long and uninteresting that I do not read them

If you knew that this amendment had been made would you have vetoed the bill

Yes I believe I would

SENATOR MACKAY TALKS.

I have no recollection of this amendment said Senator Donald Mackay yesterday

WHAT MR. HUME SAYS.

"This amendment was not in the original bill It was not considered at any of the meetings of the Multnomah house delegation and how it found its way into the charter I cannot imagine said Representative W T Hume "When the bill was returned with amendments to the house it was referred to the Multnomah representatives, with leave to report at any time We held a meeting and the amendments were read seriatim and discussed Some one moved that we recommend that the house concur and I moved to amend that the house do not concur My motion was voted down and Chairman Strowbridge directed the secretary to draw up the majority report, I announced that I would write a minority report, which myself and Mr Thompson would sign, and for that purpose I borrowed the documents considered at the meeting I carefully read and examined each of the amendments, also the original bill and I know that this amendment giving the present police commissioners control of their offices for an indefinite period was not in either the bill or the amendments made by the senate. The first intimation I received of the existence of such law was in last Sunday's OREGONIAN I know too that the amendments made by the senate did not fill thirteen pages of legal cap as you state There were not to exceed four pages and if there are thirteen pages of amendments now, there has been some astonishing growth lately It is very remarkable to me that our clerk should read the amendments very carefully with seven of us sitting around the table and within close range and not one of us hear this police amendment read. It was not read, because it was not in the senate amendments. Representative Fisher was present but declined to vote either way saying that as he was an Albina man he was not directly interested in Portland affairs. Mr Harrington absented himself telling us to go ahead and fix the charter to suit ourselves and he would vote with us

THE AMENDMENT WAS NOT READ.

read at the meeting of the delegation was [illegible] of Representative D P Thompson

It was never read either at our meetings or in the open house because it was put in after the bill had passed the house I am positive that the senate amendments to the bill did not fill over four pages of legal cap

WILL THERE BE AN ELECTION?

A well known politician talking with a reporter yesterday said

"This new charter will undoubtedly be tested in the courts There is already talk among those opposed to the police amendment of holding a city convention and nominating a candidate for police commissioner who will demand the office and thus bring the matter to an issue

IT WAS NOT REPORTED

THE OREGONIAN of February 20 contained a telegraphic report of the proceedings incident to the passage of the bill in the house when it was returned amended from the senate the day before The principal amendment was the one limiting the expenses of the police and fire departments to the sum to be raised by a 3½ mill tax for each and no mention whatever was made of the police commission amendment. Moreover the reporter in the house has no recollection of ever having heard the amendment read

PRETTY MABEL JENNESS.

She is Here to Tell Women How to Become Beautiful.

How to Make Scrawny Necks Plump and Smooth, to Enlarge the Arms and Make the Waist Smaller

Miss Mabel Jenness sister of Mrs Annie Jenness Miller and a youthful apostle of physical culture for the fair sex, arrived in Portland yesterday Miss Jenness whose comprehensive but uncomplicated system of training is attracting so much attention at present illustrates her remarks very pleasingly in her own person, assuming the numerous postures she advocates in a Grecian gown clasped on the shoulders, girdled at the waist and embroidered all with gold whose clinging draperies outline a form of Grecian development and grace of bearing She is supple, lithe vigorous and powerful without an ounce of superfluous flesh on her body or the visible outline of a bone in her anatomy She insists that she made herself what she is by the constant practice of simple exercises and that every woman is to blame if she doesn't possess a modicum of the physical beauty and grace she covets

There is a wonderful power in graceful motion she says "You know that Bacon declares that in beauty that of decent and gracious motion is more than that of favor and we all know that a graceful mien which I call simply physical refinement puts one instantly en rapport with any company or individual

"Do you not find some difficulty in making beautiful women out of some of those who come to see you?" was asked

There is no body unless it be deformed that cannot be materially improved and refined and educated to cultured grace and beauty by persevering conscientious effort

Well what would you do for example with a tall angular girl whose joints are bigger than any other part of her body?

I would do this, and throwing her arms out in front of her clenching the fist until every muscle was outlined she threw them above her head and down at the sides out in front and back with vigorous motion then she [illegible] her hands out at the sides as though they were lifeless, suddenly stretched their length turned the clenched fists backward and forward until it seemed as though they would be twisted from the wrist entirely made several more strong steady motions which called in play every muscle of the arm and forearm and then, taking all the life out of the hands she swayed them up and down forward and back and round and round in slow beautiful motions of grace

Now I would not do this once or twice while thinking of ten thousand other things but every day and twice a day I would put all my intelligence into the effective practice of the exercises until I had mastered my elbows and made my arms so round and full that they would be the envy of my friends

How long would it take?

"That depends on the energy of the person and her adaptability to the work Usually in a few weeks or months at the most we notice a decided difference

Suppose a woman has a scrawny neck what could you do for that

The simplest exercises for the development of the bust is swinging the arms backward until the backs of the hands touch and breathing correctly Most women breathe in such a way either from the tightness of the clothing about the waist or from indolence and ignorance, that the apex of the lung is never filled with air and the muscles over it grow flaccid and shrunken from lack of use Then too many women stand wrong with the abdomen thrown forward instead of the chest and, following the directions of gymnasts throw the shoulders back instead of the chest out. I would have a woman stand in such a manner that the chest should be in a line with the toes the abdomen will then be drawn in and the chest thrown up and out. Now you have something to build on that doesn't need so much filling out but just enough muscular development to cover the bones. There is a great difference between muscular development and fat Fleshy women who stand on their heels, with protruding abdomen and shoulders thrown back all out of symmetry will have throat so covered by adipose tissue that they are very pretty, and they are almost afraid to try the exercise for fear it will make them larger I have hard work to make them understand that muscle is better than adipose tissue—that muscle will only develop to its limit no matter how it is exercised and that flesh is only a burden and usually a vexation of spirit.

Miss Jenness will lecture at the New Park theater this afternoon and as her fame has already preceded her the fair ladies of Portland will be out in full force to listen to her advice upon how to retain perfect beauty and health She has just come from San Francisco and Oakland where she has been about two weeks lecturing A large class met in the Oakland Congregational church the pastor giving his consent to it, and saying he believed Miss Jenness was engaged [illegible]

BREAKFAST
By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame —Civil Service Gazette.
